2.5 Shareholder meetings

The Company will hold an Annual General Meeting (AGM). The AGM and other shareholders meetings will provide a platform for:

- (a) the Company to inform shareholders of important matters, developments and areas of concern or interest to the Board;
- (b) shareholders to express their views about areas of concern or interest to the Board; and
- (c) shareholders to vote on Board proposals and recommendations.

The Company encourages all shareholders to attend and engage in the AGM, where possible. The Company will inform shareholders of the date, time and location of the AGM via the Company's website and its annual report. Prior to all Company meetings, the Company will circulate a notice of meeting and associated documents to shareholders and place a copy on the Company's website.

Given the cross-border nature of the Company's business activities, the Company recognises that shareholders may not be able to physically attend Company meetings. To enable shareholder participation in these circumstances, the Company recommends that shareholders vote by proxy where possible and forward any inquiries or concerns they have to the Company Secretary prior to the Company meeting.

The Company will annually review its policies and procedures for encouraging shareholder engagement in Company meetings. This will involve consideration of how technology can be used to facilitate shareholder participation, for example:

- (a) live webcasting of meetings so shareholders can view and/or hear proceedings online;
- (b) holding meetings across multiple venues linked by live telecommunications; and
- (c) providing a direct voting facility to allow security holders to vote ahead of the meeting without having to attend or appoint a proxy.
