

Reservations

FullCount Reservations helps communities plan dining demand, balance service, and improve resident experience, without overbooking, bottlenecks, or operational guesswork.

- Give residents flexibility and control while managing mealtime traffic
- Customizable features and availability limits to fit your communities needs
- Special requests and configurable notification settings available
- Utilize across campus for increased participation, improved resident experience, and improved planning
- Integrates into existing community portals, simplifying resident access

By offering FullCount's reservation feature and use it every day, for every meal. Because we know the names and number of residents and guests dining with us, it's easy for dining managers to know where to assign staff.

We couldn't go a day without FullCount's reservation module, because we would be lacking a lot of crucial information for our dining operations."

Party Members Feature

Residents can select others as their companions for reservation.

Parties on booking are notified via their preferred method of communication.

No duplicate bookings, streamlining operations for staff and residents.
