

Michèle Jeanneret

Kindergarten Teacher -
German

“It is important to me that the lessons are varied so that the children can engage with different ways of acting, thinking and seeing things. Adopting different perspectives is part of the learning path to understanding the environment and securing a place in society.

Children should think about their own actions. Self-reflection is an important step for later, when children become more responsible towards themselves and the environment. In the classroom, each child's way of thinking is an enriching resource for knowledge about the world. Children should therefore also be allowed to contribute their individual needs and ideas so that we can have great lessons together as a class.”

Professional experience

- Teacher, Starinstitut, Switzerland
- Learning Supervisor, Bildungsmotor, Switzerland
- Emergency Dispatcher, Senior Citizens' Assistance Service, Curena, Switzerland
- Holiday Care, Troll Waldkrippe, Switzerland
- Nursing Internship, Infant Ward, Kinderspital Zürich, Switzerland

Qualifications

- Institute of Primary Education, Bern University of Teacher Education, Switzerland
- Faculty of Philosophy (Sociology), University of Zurich, Switzerland
- Faculty of Medicine and Natural Science, University of Zurich, Switzerland

