Pax House Community Communications Guidelines

Purpose
These guidelines help maintain respectful and constructive communication for everyone who subscribes to Pax House updates, events, and opportunities.

How to Engage
- Share comments and questions that are relevant to Pax House programs and community life.
- Use clear and respectful language.
- Protect privacy—do not post personal or confidential information.

What's Not Allowed
- Harassment, hate speech, or discriminatory remarks.
- Spam or promotional content unrelated to Pax House.
- False or misleading information.

Privacy and Social Media
To maintain respect for individual privacy and uphold our community values:
1. Photo Sharing and Consent
   - Do not post or share photos or videos of other residents, staff, or guests without their explicit consent.
   - If someone does not wish to have their image published, they must inform the Director or Dean of Students. This preference will be honored across all community platforms.
2. Social Media Conduct
   - Represent Pax House and Menno Hall positively and respectfully in all online interactions.
   - Avoid posting content that could compromise the safety, dignity, or privacy of any individual or the community.
3. Residence Contract Integration
   - These privacy and social media guidelines are reiterated in the residence contract. All residents agree to comply as part of their housing agreement.

Moderation
We review community interactions and may remove content that violates these guidelines. Repeated violations can result in removal from mailing lists or community spaces.
If you notice a violation of these guidelines, report it promptly to the Director or Dean of Students for review and action.
