

Enrolments and Completions Research

Supporting a skilled workforce

This project will explore the complex reasons behind the relatively low number of care and support qualification completions.

We will undertake broad stakeholder consultation to examine barriers to completion, identify gaps in existing research and make recommendations on how to address these.

Benefits of being involved

Your input is important and will:

- help identify reasons behind low completion rates
- contribute to research aiming to alleviate workforce shortages
- inform practical recommendations to support learner progression and completion.

How to get involved
