

Aged Care Wages Research

Examining workforce retention in aged care

Workforce shortages are a major challenge for the aged care sector which faces difficulties in retaining workers.

HumanAbility has commissioned Equity Economics to examine retention outcomes following wage increases awarded by the Aged Care Work Value Case.

Benefits of being involved

Your input is important and will help measure:

- changes to aged care workforce retention and turnover rates
- potential impact of wage increases on similar workforces
- what other events have had an impact on retention

The independent consultancy will provide participants with a strictly confidential benchmarking report of their workforce data and benchmark outcomes against aggregated sector trends and industry averages.

How to get involved
