Fisher & Ludlow

Fisher & Ludlow has developed an international reputation for quality products since the company was established in 1954. Special equipment and manufacturing techniques are employed to ensure that maximum strength and durability are built into every steel and aluminum grating bearing the Tru-weld and Fisholow names. Tru-weld steel gratings are forge welded, a system in which Fisher & Ludlow was a pioneer. In this process the bearing and cross bars are permanently forged together by heat and pressure into a single unit construction which results in greater strength per pound than mechanical assembly methods. Fisholow Galok aluminum gratings employ a unique interlocking system that joins the bearing and cross bars together in panels of exceptional rigidity and strength.

Fisher & Ludlow is a supplier of high quality gratings for major capital projects around the world. Tru-weld and Fisholow products may be found in places as far as the Orient and South America, and in environments as diverse as the arctic or the tropics.

Whether plying the oceans of the world or drilling miles beneath the Earth's surface, buyers rely upon our gratings to perform flawlessly in the broad range of conditions under which they are employed. Specific applications include: mining and smelting operations, power generating stations, oilfields and refineries, chemical plants, water treatment facilities, pulp and paper producers, transportation equipment, commercial buildings, security institutions, shopping malls, etc.

The wide variety of shapes, sizes, materials and finishes we can offer, make Tru-weld and Fisholow gratings suitable for all kinds of major construction, manufacturing, distribution, transportation, mining, processing and commercial products. Stock products can be supplied quickly from strategically located sales and warehouse facilities, or custom jobs can be manufactured to your particular requirements by our personnel in either Imperial or Metric measurements.

All products are manufactured at our modern plants using specially designed heavy duty, automated equipment, built to our own demanding specifications. Uniformity of quality control is achieved through an integral automatic checking system supplemented by our quality control program. Fisher & Ludlow, Burlington location, is ISO 9001:2000 certified ensuring all products are manufactured to strict international standards.

COMPANY OVERVIEW

In 1945, Clifford L. Stivers founded a temporary help company to meet the growing demand for temporary clerical services in Chicago. A pioneer in the temporary services industry, Stivers devised his own system of testing skills, hired a statistician to validate test scores, and instituted the concept of quality control. Stivers established branch offices on both coasts in the 1950's, and has gradually added offices in major cities in the United States and Canada.

Our Company Mission:

To conduct business with a dedication to excellence, integrity, and ethics, and to have a positive impact on each person with whom we come in contact

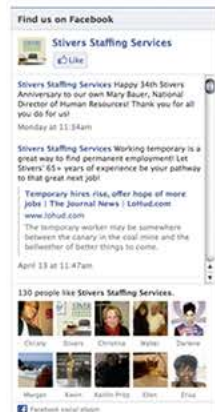

"When we began in 1945 we specialized exclusively in the placement of temporary office workers. As we've expanded over the years, we have grown into a full-service staffing service.

Because of the complexity of our systems and procedures, and of our high ethical standards, we have chosen not to franchise. Each Stivers office is Company owned and staffed by highly trained Stivers personnel.

You can call any Stivers office with complete confidence."

TESTIMONIALS

"I chose Stivers because I had worked with you in the past, getting temps to fill in at the office. I tested on Friday, and by Tuesday I was at my first assignment. I know that I would not be in this position without you. When I started this assignment I never dreamed that I would work for them full-time, and now that I am, I can't dream working any place else. Stivers does make a difference."
