

TRAVEL ⌚ 8 minutes 📅 23 MAY 2025

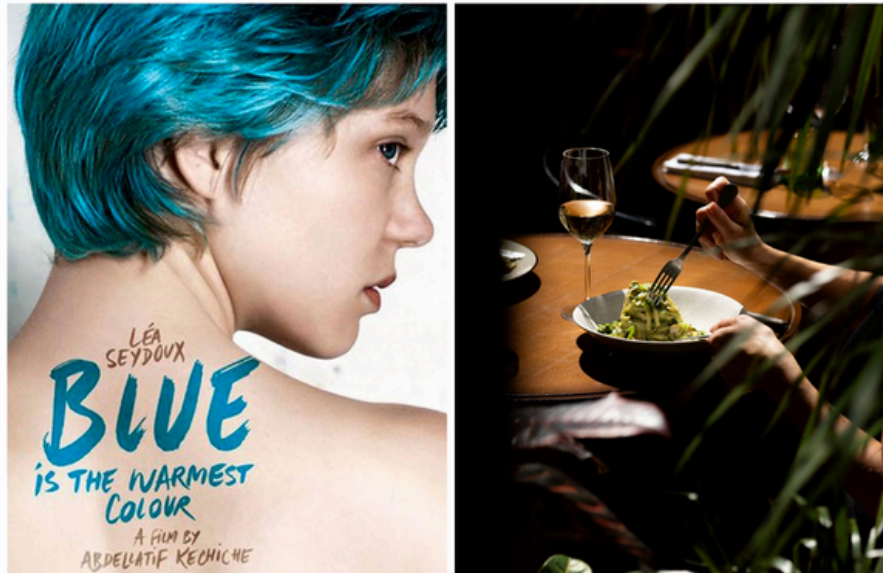

11 Cannes Movies With Iconic Food Moments — Paired with MICHELIN Guide Restaurants

As the Cannes Film Festival rolls out its red carpet, we're serving a cinematic tasting menu of unforgettable food moments — from Parasite to Babette's Feast. We've paired these beloved Cannes movies with some of our MICHELIN-Guide recommended restaurants that echo each story's flavor and feeling.

Festival Fine Dining Restaurants Travel

7. Blue Is the Warmest Colour (2013) + Restaurant des Grands Boulevards, Paris, France

A Palme d'Or winner, Blue Is the Warmest Colour (2013) pairs well with the trendy vibes of Restaurant des Grands Boulevards in Paris, France. © Left: BFA / Alamy Stock Photo. Right: Salomé Rateau

Palme d'Or Winner | Vibe: spaghetti, shellfish, and the taste of first love

Coming-of-age never looked — or felt—so ravenous. Adèle eats, loves, cries, and eats again in this intimately sprawling film that dares to believe meals can be just as revealing as kisses. (Also: spaghetti never looked so emotionally loaded.)

Where to dine: Passerini – Restaurant des Grands Boulevards in Paris (in our MICHELIN Guide selection)

While the film was set in Northern France, this spot in Paris headed up by Chef Giovanni Passerini is a great match. It's young, buzzy, and defiantly nonchalant, this is the kind of place where you'll spot guests with cerulean hair and complicated feelings, all while diving into good seafood linguine. The vibe is inclusive, stylish, and slightly chaotic in the best way — perfect for lingering conversations, heartbreak post-mortems, and maybe even falling in love over shellfish. It's not a film set, but it might as well be.