Standard Engineering Technology Limited Announces revealing of new corporate identity

Hyderabad, India – February 13, 2026 – Standard Engineering Technology Limited (formerly Standard Glass Lining Technology Limited) today announced the launch of its new corporate identity, marking an important milestone in the Company’s brand evolution following its earlier change of name.

The Company had previously informed the stock exchanges about the change of name from Standard Glass Lining Technology Limited to Standard Engineering Technology Limited. The new corporate identity launch represents the visual expression of this transformation and aligns the Company’s brand identity with its expanded scale, scope, and strategic direction.

Mr. Kandula Nageswara Rao, promoter and Managing director, said that this evolution does not signify any departure from its glass lining business. Glass lining continues to remain at the core of the Company’s DNA and is one of its fastest-growing and most profitable verticals. The refreshed brand identity reflects the Company’s journey into a high-precision, integrated engineering platform capable of delivering complex, multi-disciplinary projects with single-point accountability—from concept to commissioning.

The new identity underscores:

- The Company’s expanded engineering and manufacturing capabilities
- Its strong turnkey and end-to-end execution capabilities
- Its growing global presence and ambitions
- Its positioning as a long-term strategic partner to customers, beyond being only an equipment supplier

The management stated that this transformation has been deliberate, disciplined, and customer-led, aligned with the Company’s long-term strategy to build a scalable, high-quality engineering platform serving the pharmaceutical, chemical, and allied process industries.

The Company will continue to strengthen its core glass lining business while accelerating growth across its broader engineering and integrated solutions portfolio.
