Brown patch fungus

Brown patch is caused by a fungus and affects turfgrass in hot and humid weather. It is also known as large patch disease. Although most people expect it to start out brown, brown patch actually starts out as circular patches of brown or tan wilted grass that can expand to several feet in diameter. If left untreated, it can lead to significant turf damage. Our treatment consists of 2 fungicide applications done typically 14 days apart from each other. If you spot something that looks like this in your yard, please email us a picture to info@amazingbladeslandscaping.com.

Is your irrigation system turned on yet? If not, what are you waiting for? Call us today to get on one of our irrigations packages, where we do all of the work for you. Don't need a package? You can just have us come out, start it up for you and make sure everything is functioning properly. We will make sure your grass and plants are well maintained and getting proper water coverage. Making sure you are off to a good start in the beginning of the season helps reduce timely and costly issues later in the season.

Did you know we offer shrub trimming packages?

Please let the office know if you have a specific way you'd like your trimming done, otherwise they will perform a standard trim.

With shrub trimming packages, we automatically come out to trim your shrubs, crepe myrtles and pampas grass at specific times throughout the year.

Shrub trimming is billed at an hourly rate. Call today to add these services to your current account.
