

Agenus to Participate in Fireside Chat at the Jefferies 2021 Virtual Healthcare Conference

June 1, 2021

LEXINGTON, Mass., June 01, 2021 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Agenus (NASDAQ: AGEN), an immuno-oncology company with an extensive pipeline of checkpoint antibodies, cell therapies, adjuvants, and vaccines designed to activate immune response to cancers and infections, today announced that Jennifer Buell, PhD, President and COO of Agenus, will participate in a fireside chat at the Jefferies 2021 Virtual Healthcare Conference on Friday, June 4, 2021 from 10:30 a.m. to 10:55 a.m. ET.

Registration for the webinar can be done in advance at <https://wsw.com/webcast/jeff174/agen/1824525>.

A replay will be available after the call on the Events & Presentations page of the Agenus website at <https://investor.agenusbio.com/events-and-presentations>.

About Agenus

Agenus is a clinical-stage immuno-oncology company focused on the discovery and development of therapies that engage the body's immune system to fight cancer. The Company's vision is to expand the patient populations benefiting from cancer immunotherapy by pursuing combination approaches that leverage a broad repertoire of antibody therapeutics, adoptive cell therapies (through its AgenTus Therapeutics subsidiary), and proprietary cancer vaccine platforms. The Company is equipped with a suite of antibody discovery platforms and a state-of-the-art GMP manufacturing facility with the capacity to support clinical programs. Agenus is headquartered in Lexington, MA. For more information, please visit www.agenusbio.com and our Twitter handle @agenus_bio. Information that may be important to investors will be routinely posted on our website and Twitter.

Contact

Agenus Investor Relations

Jan Medina, CFA
Agenus
781-674-4490
Jan.Medina@agenusbio.com

Agenus Media Relations

Kimberly Ha
KKH Advisors
917-291-5744
kimberly.ha@kkhadvisors.com