Levelpath provides supplier risk management with clear visibility and control. With AI-native third-party risk management, teams can document, assess, and monitor risks to build stronger and more resilient supply chains. The platform enables organizations to get a 360° view of risk, automate ongoing assessments, and maintain a continuous view of supplier health in order to mitigate issues before they escalate.

Manage Supplier Risk with Confidence

Protect business continuity and reduce third-party risk exposure with Levelpath. Document risk at intake, prioritize your most critical suppliers, and verify risk throughout procurement processes to identify and manage risk. With AI enrichment, risk scoring, and mobile access, teams maintain full oversight of supplier performance and compliance.

Standardize and Scale Compliance Efforts

Levelpath provides a consistent framework for meeting compliance and regulatory requirements across all suppliers. Teams can automate the collection of data, maintain accurate documentation, and ensure audit readiness through centralized records. This unified approach reduces manual work, improves accuracy, and helps meet internal and external standards.

Turn Risk into Action with AI Agents

Make supplier risk management proactive and efficient with Levelpath's AI Agents. Define clear mitigation plans, assign ownership, and track progress to completion. Automated escalation workflows ensure procurement, IT, finance, legal, and compliance teams stay connected and informed at every stage.

Gain Complete Risk Visibility

Centralize supplier risk records, categories, and assessment data within Levelpath's unified platform. Measure and monitor supplier health continuously with AI-powered insights and mobile dashboards, so teams can transform from reactive to proactive third-party risk management.

> The ability to track our contracts and have our arms around our suppliers is reducing the long-term risk of the business, which is also critical.
