

Community Advisory Committee (CAC) members

Tony Fuller APM	Natalie Harwood	Dr Maree Meredith
Tony has extensive experience in policing, crisis and emergency management. During his 34 years of service with the NT Police, he received the Australian Police Medal for distinguished service and recognition for his work in reducing alcohol related violence on Groote Eylandt and later, East Arnhem Land.	Natalie is a Kiyuy woman who was born in Darwin and spent most of her life at Bagot Community, where she has played advocacy and leadership roles within Council and community advisory groups. Natalie is a Community Engagement Facilitator for not-for-profit organisation, Child Australia.	Bidjara woman, Dr Maree Meredith is an Associate Professor (College of Medicine and Public Health) and Director of Poche SA+NT at Flinders University. Poche is a centre focused on improving health outcomes for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people through collaborative, holistic and community-driven approaches.
Richard O'Sullivan	Lateesha Jeffrey	Jarrod Stokes
Richard has over 45 years experience in Northern Territory across the tourism, justice and racing sectors. As a former chairman of the NT Racing Commission and NT Licensing Commission, he held responsibility for minimisation of harm from alcohol abuse through a regulated framework of liquor licences, permits and declaration of 'dry' areas.	A Northern Territorian, Lateesha is a proud Wulwulam and Kukatj woman, raised on Larrakia and Yolngu Land. Lateesha is a passionate advocate for education – particularly for young women – and the role empowering these young women plays in healing intergenerational trauma and strengthening communities. Which is why she established Wave of Change Consultancy Pty Ltd and founded the Lateral Empowerment Program, as a way for her to influence meaningful waves of change to empower others.	Jarrod is a proud Larrakia, Warumungu, Ngarrindjeri, and Arabana man, living in Darwin. Jarrod is the Youth Services Manager for Larrakia Nation, and brings a wealth of experience working with the Darwin community.
