Where is Leven?

By Canal Street in the heart of Manchester's vibrant Gay Village, Leven is a five-minute walk from Manchester Piccadilly station and handy for pretty much everywhere in the buzzing city centre.

What's the hotel like?

The boutique hotel feels more like an urban, trendy city escape than the UK.

Expect exposed red brick walls and cool artwork pieces with a New York loft feel.

What are the rooms like at Leven?

They're more like small apartments, with the smallest Life Size option still having a kitchenette and seating area.

And the best views come from the king-size bed, if you opt for a canal-side room.

The power showers are a highlight, with fancy Grown Alchemist toiletries (which you can buy full-size downstairs).

Need more space? There is the Living Space room, with a larger sofa area, Living Large with a sitting room or their top option, Living The Dream, with second bedroom.

Rooms start from £105 per night at liveLeven.com.
