A warm welcome to you.

Loving – authentic – natural. These are the values by which I live and work.

Ceremonies and rituals have been a constant part of my life for over twenty years – in everyday moments as well as on special occasions. In many situations I have had the privilege of witnessing the power they hold: how a personally crafted ceremony touches the hearts of those present and stays with them long after.

In my home region of the Bregenzerwald, there is a saying by Gebhard Wölfe: "We honour the old, greet the new and remain true to ourselves and to our home." I extend this sense of home to what dwells within us as human beings – the place where our values and our love reside.

Through my training as a civil celebrant, this saying has taken on an even deeper meaning for me. It fills me with joy, time and again, to weave old wisdom and traditional rituals together with new ideas – and to shape from this a ceremony that is personal, alive and one of a kind.

It is my heartfelt wish to discover, in our time of preparation together, what reflects you as a couple, what moves you and what matters most to you in life.

- What does the perfect flow of your ceremony look like?
- Which rituals or symbolic gestures feel right for you?
- And which words describe you and your love?

I would love for us to get to know each other with no obligation, then gather ideas together, plan and prepare your ceremony in a way that feels completely right for you. On your wedding day, your dream should become reality.

It is my heartfelt joy to accompany you with my years of experience, all my creative ideas and my genuine enthusiasm – as we bring your dream to life.
