WHO WE ARE

My name is Michael Noack. I have been a music producer for many years and I am also part of the music producer & DJ duo Junge Junge — maybe you've heard of us. Over the past years, Junge Junge has gained recognition in the electronic underground and pop music scene, with some great successes along the way.

Since the Covid period, I have also been focusing on my solo project Mitch, where I play a few selected shows each year, mainly warming up with Afro House and Deep House sets. Most of the time, you'll find me performing at my resident club, 102 Club Neuss.

WHO WE ARE

Ali Lahmidi – The Story Behind The Sound
Member of DABEI Music Collective

I'm Ali Lahmidi, born on October 5th, 1979, in Düsseldorf, Germany. Growing up as a German-Moroccan kid in the heart of Düsseldorf during the vibrant 80s, my first contact with rap culture came in 1990 — and from that moment on, I was hooked for life.

Together with my first band Fingerprints and artist Nabil M., we laid the early foundations for street rap in Germany, becoming suburban legends of that era. A few years later, this journey led to several releases, including collaborations in the US with artists like Kxng Crooked and Royce da 5'9", who at the time were signed to Shady Records.

As the 2000s rolled in, new chapters opened with Raw Flavor and the Hotbox Gallery Düsseldorf — projects that brought together artists from diverse genres onto one unique platform, something the local scene hadn't seen before. What started as a one-time idea evolved into a movement, connecting multiple disciplines and sounds.

Raw Flavor — which also includes DABEI members like Gio and Dr. Phil — has since made its mark nationwide and continues to grow, adding even more depth to what makes the DABEI Collective so powerful today.

In short:

I'm a child of the 80s, with the soul of the 70s, the spirit of the mid 90s, and a little bit of the manners of the 60s — that's what made my cypher complete from 2000 and up.
