

THE BELLWETHER RESIDENCES

An intentional place to live – where historic details meet curated contemporary design, grounded in the city, and made for how you move.

Thoughtfully designed residences, elevated amenities, and seamless services, bringing ease and intention to everyday city living.

Located in the heart of downtown Chicago, 79 West Monroe marks a pivotal moment in the evolution of the LaSalle Street corridor. As the first office-to-residential conversion to break ground under the city's LaSalle Street revitalization initiative.

This landmark early-1900s tower is being thoughtfully reimagined. The redevelopment demonstrates how historic architecture can be preserved while adapting to the needs of a modern downtown.

Originally constructed as a 14-story office building, the property once served as headquarters for Bell Federal Savings and Loan. Today, it stands at the forefront of the movement to transform underutilized office space along LaSalle Street into vibrant housing that supports a more active, mixed-use neighborhood. By blending historic preservation, residential growth, and affordability, 79 West Monroe represents a model for the future of downtown living.
