1. What Are Cookies?

Cookies are small text files that are placed on your device (computer, tablet, or mobile phone) when you visit a website. They are widely used to make websites work more efficiently and to provide information to website owners. Cookies do not harm your device and cannot access any other information on it.

2. Types of Cookies We Use

We use the following categories of cookies on our website:

Strictly Necessary Cookies

These cookies are essential for the website to function properly. They enable core features such as page navigation and access to secure areas. The website cannot function correctly without these cookies, and they cannot be disabled.

Analytics Cookies

These cookies help us understand how visitors interact with our website by collecting information anonymously. This includes which pages are visited most often, how long visitors stay, and where they come from. We use this data to improve our website and user experience.

Functional Cookies

These cookies allow the website to remember choices you make (such as your preferred language or region) and provide enhanced, more personalized features.

3. Third-Party Cookies

Our website is built on the Webflow platform, which may set its own cookies to support website functionality and performance. Additionally, we may use third-party analytics tools (such as Google Analytics) that set cookies to help us analyze website traffic. These third parties have their own privacy policies governing their use of cookies.

We do not use cookies to serve third-party advertising or to track you across other websites for marketing purposes.

4. How to Control Cookies

You have the right to accept or reject cookies. You can manage your cookie preferences in the following ways:

- Browser settings: Most browsers allow you to view, manage, block, or delete cookies through their settings. Refer to your browser's help documentation for instructions.
