

BlueBear AI Depo Summaries

BlueBear utilizes patent-pending technology to produce industry-leading page and line summaries with accurate citations, identify key admissions, and provide a short memo organized by issue with live links back to the transcript and exhibits.

Our summary tool runs in a secured environment with encryption in transit and at rest, role-based access, and audit logging. Your transcripts, videos, and exhibits are never used to train or improve any model and never commingled with other matters.

Outputs are provided in PDF and Word, with an Excel table on request. Links in the summaries open directly to the cited page and line in the transcript for instant verification.

Highlights include:

- Page/Line Summary with 100% Accurate Page/Line Citations: The most detailed document, comprehensive of all information from beginning to end, in chronological order. It includes a table of contents and a narrative-form conversion of the dialogue with 100% accurate page/line citations.
- Key Admissions Extraction: Key admissions are particularly useful for getting a quick yet thorough understanding of the key takeaways from the deposition based on facts alleged in the complaint. Includes page/line citations.
- Deposition Memos (Thematic Summary): Offers a succinct and focused summary of the most important themes discussed throughout, irrelevant of chronology, separating central points from less pertinent information found in the ‘miscellaneous/other’ section
- Hyperlinked to the Original Transcript: Facilitate human review with easy navigation links back and forth between the summary sections and the source dialogue.

Robert Jacobson Introduces Himself in a Deposition Testimony

Topic	Summary
- Introducing Himself	Robert Jacobson introduced himself. (4:13 - 4:15)

During a Deposition, There Was a Dispute Between Mr. Bankston and Mr. Enoch About Questioning Witness Robert Jacobson

Topic	Summary
- Dispute over Subpoena and Confidentiality Agreement	Robert Jacobson was questioned by Mark Enoch about whether he had received a subpoena, as Enoch believed Jacobson was bound by a non-disclosure and confidentiality agreement and could not testify without one. Mark Bankston disputed this, asserting that Enoch had no court orders to question any witness and threatened to suspend the deposition and seek sanctions if Enoch continued to interact with Jacobson. Bankston confirmed that he had served a Notice of Deposition on Jacobson, but Enoch maintained that Jacobson could not testify without a subpoena due to his non-disclosure and confidentiality agreement. Bankston accused Enoch of disrupting the deposition and stated that Enoch had no grounds to question Jacobson about confidentiality as he had already informed him of his obligations. Despite this, Enoch persisted in asking Jacobson about his receipt of a subpoena. (4:16 - 21:18)

Citation	Question / Answer
4:13 - 4:15	Q Good afternoon, Mr. Jacobson. Can you introduce yourself for our record? A I am Robert Jacobson. Summary
4:16 - 21:18	Q Okay. MR. ENOCH: Mark, I'd like to ask a couple of questions and make a comment real quickly. MR. BANKSTON: I don't think you've been given any orders from the Court to do any discovery. So, no, Mr. Enoch, you're not asking this witness any questions. MR. ENOCH: Mr. Jacobson -- MR. BANKSTON: Mr. Enoch -- MR. ENOCH: -- were you served with a subpoena? MR. BANKSTON: Mr. Enoch, please point me to the order in which you've been allowed to do any discovery or take any questions of any witness. Point me to it, Mr. Enoch. MR. ENOCH: Please do not -- MR. BANKSTON: Right now, point me to it. MR. ENOCH: Please do not interrupt. MR. BANKSTON: Then you're going to -- Mr. Enoch, stop talking to the witness. MR. ENOCH: Mr. Jacobson -- MR. BANKSTON: Mr. Enoch, this deposition will be suspended; and I will seek sanctions if you speak one more time to this witness. MR. ENOCH: Mr. Jacobson, have you been served with a deposition subpoena? MR. BANKSTON: Mr. Enoch, we're going off the record. We're done. The deposition's done. MR. ENOCH: We are not going off the record. MR. BANKSTON: The deposition is suspended. MR. ENOCH: We are not going off the record. MR. BANKSTON: You have no ability to take any testimony, Mr. Enoch. None. Zero. MR. ENOCH: Mr. Bankston, I suggest instead of getting emotional about it, if you'd let me ask this question -- MR. BANKSTON: No, we're not going to allow you any questions, Mr. Enoch. MR. ENOCH: Please don't interrupt me again. MR. BANKSTON: Mr. Enoch, you have no right to ask your questions. Before you ask that question -- a single question to that witness again, direct me to what authority you think you have to -- MR. ENOCH: Did you serve a subpoena on this witness? MR. BANKSTON: I don't -- I served a Notice of Deposition on this witness.

	Q What entity is that? A Free Speech Systems LLC. Summary
22:15 - 22:21	Q Okay. When did your employment end? A My employment ended on May 1st of 2017 -- or April 30th. Q So am I right that that's over a decade that you were at InfoWars? A I was there for around 13 years, approximately. Summary
22:22 - 23:5	Q As an employee, did you have a confidentiality agreement of any kind? A Not for the first six years or so. Q Okay. So does that mean around 2010 or so the idea of confidentiality came up? A Confidentiality was passed around the office but was never given to me until years after; and it was more of a -- you know, sort of an ultimatum, sort of suggested, putting my livelihood at risk. Summary
23:6 - 23:12	Q Apparently -- I wanted to show you something I wanted to mark as Exhibit 1, but I believe Mr. Enoch has already hijacked that exhibit. So I am going to mark this as Exhibit 2. MR. ENOCH: Object to the sidebar. Move to strike. (Exhibit 2 marked.)
