Morgan&Morgan
BUSINESS AND TECHNOLOGY

CYBER RESILIENCE PLEDGE

Our pledge declaration.

Morgan & Morgan is proud to sign the Government's Cyber Resilience Pledge, committing to take positive and meaningful steps to strengthen our cyber security and improve resilience across our organisation and supply chain.

In line with the Government's Cyber Resilience Pledge, we commit to undertaking the following actions:

01 Make cyber security a Board responsibility

a. Implement the actions outlined within the Government's Cyber Governance Code of Practice.

b. Ensure all relevant Board members undertake the NCSC's Cyber Governance Training within three months of signing the pledge and annually thereafter.

02 Sign up to the NCSC Early Warning service

a. Register for the NCSC Early Warning service within one month of signing the pledge to receive notifications about potential cyber threats and vulnerabilities that could affect our organisation.

03 Strengthen cyber security across our supply chain

a. Register for the Cyber Essentials Supplier Check Tool within two months of signing the pledge.

b. Conduct a comprehensive review of Cyber Essentials coverage across our supply chain, with findings presented to and discussed by the Board.

c. Take a risk-based approach to requiring Cyber Essentials certification across our supply chain. Where certification is not required for certain suppliers, ensure this decision aligns with our risk appetite and business strategy, with appropriate alternative assurances in place.

In addition to these three key actions, we also commit to the following:

Encourage cyber resilience across our supply chain: Engage with our suppliers to better understand and manage cyber security risks, encouraging the adoption of good cyber security practices and the measures outlined within this pledge.

Maintain transparency and accountability: Publish this signed pledge declaration on our website and provide an annual public update on the progress made towards fulfilling our commitments.

While the Cyber Resilience Pledge is voluntary, Morgan & Morgan is committed to taking positive and meaningful steps to implement these actions and continually strengthen our approach to cyber security.

Should we be unable to implement any of the commitments outlined above, we will provide the Department for Science, Innovation and Technology (DSIT) with relevant feedback explaining why.

Signed,

Michael Morgan
Managing Director
Morgan & Morgan