

AI-powered item cataloging

Save time and money with Divisly

Before deciding who gets what, both parties need to document what exists. Usually that means sticky notes or an unfinished spreadsheet. Every gap becomes another email or phone call — and professional time is billed hourly.

Your attorney or mediator's value is judgement: the law, negotiation, and counsel on hard decisions. A complete property inventory puts the same data in front of both of you, so paid time goes toward resolving things, not reconstructing them.

Divisly doesn't replace the expertise of your legal professional, it just makes the process of gathering this information simpler, faster, and easier for you.

What Divisly does

- ÷ Guided, room by room. Photograph as you go, AI identifies and catalogs items from your photos.
- ÷ Propose ownership. Mark who you think should keep each item and flag the categories that matter most to you.
- ÷ Always current. Every item is timestamped. Add items anytime and resend the updated inventory.
- ÷ Easily shareable documentation. Your attorney, mediator, or other professional gets a complete organized record instead of fragments.
- ÷ One-time purchase. No recurring subscription or hidden fees. Available for gifting.

