Narrative

The main driver of our pay gap statistics continues to be different levels of gender representation in different job types. We are committed to fair and equal pay for all employees and the statistics indicated do not arise as a result of pay inequality. The mean and median female statistics are greater than equivalent statistics for males due to different levels of representations of gender in different job categories. We will continue to monitor our pay gap statistics as part of an ongoing focus on this topic. This year's statistics for NCR Limited no longer include employees who have left NCR Limited as part of the separation of NCR into NCR Voyix and NCR Atleos, two independent, publicly traded companies.

UK Gender Pay Gap reporting is a statutory requirement for employers with 250 or more employees on the annual snapshot date. I can confirm that the information contained within is true and accurate.
