Circet UK Acquires Kinetic IT Limited to strengthen its data center capabilities and accelerate growth in the digital infrastructure sector

London, United Kingdom, December 15, 2025 - Circet, a global network services provider, and its UK entity Circet UK, a leading provider of network, energy, and infrastructure services across the United Kingdom and Ireland, announce today the acquisition of Kinetic IT Limited, a leading provider of specialist data center infrastructure, installation, and maintenance services to major blue-chip clients and hyperscalers.

Founded in 2010 and headquartered in London, UK, Kinetic IT delivers high-quality data center and critical environment services to some of the world's largest technology companies. The company's expertise spans data center design, installation, commissioning, and maintenance — supporting mission-critical environments for global hyperscalers and enterprise clients.

This acquisition marks a significant strategic step in Circet's diversification strategy, further expanding its capabilities into the fast-growing data center sector. Leveraging Kinetic's deep technical expertise and established client relationships, Circet will now provide a comprehensive suite of solutions across telecoms, energy, and data infrastructure — addressing the surging demand driven by cloud computing, AI, and digital transformation.

Donagh Kelly, CEO of Circet Ireland & UK, commented: "The acquisition of Kinetic IT marks an exciting milestone for Circet as we continue our expansion into the data center market — a sector at the heart of the world's digital evolution, which we first entered through the acquisition of PS Networks (now Circet DCS) in 2024. Kinetic's technical excellence and reputation with global hyperscalers perfectly complement our growth strategy and strengthen our position as a multi-sector infrastructure partner."

Tom Cella and Stuart Packer, Directors of Kinetic IT, commented: "Joining the Circet Group is a fantastic opportunity for Kinetic IT. Circet's scale, financial strength, and international reach will accelerate our growth and enable us to deliver even greater value to our clients. We're proud of what we've built over the last two decades and are excited to enter this next chapter as part of Circet."
