

Symphony Risk Intelligence

Always-on Compliance[™]

Challenge

Legacy compliance stacks built on a patchwork of integrations leave teams managing static controls, fragmented data, and manual processes, creating massive inefficiencies.

While technology has improved incrementally over the years, the compliance operating model has remained largely unchanged. It's time to reinvent compliance.

Solution

Symphony Risk Intelligence (SRI) delivers Always-On Compliance[™], keeping compliance programs current by design as regulations, threats, and business activity change. Unified risk intelligence and end-to-end agentic orchestration turn signals into decisions and decisions into action.

Cut the inefficiency and noise, transforming compliance from a reactive cost centre into a proactive engine for growth.

Agent-native platform built for continuous change

Close coverage gaps faster

Continuously translate regulatory change, new threat signals, and evolving business activity into governed control updates across every domain and line of business, ensuring compliance operations remain current by design, not by periodic remediation.

Radically reduce the cost of compliance

Agent-led automation eliminates manual effort throughout end-to-end operations. From data and model management to triage, investigation, and reporting, SRI enables teams to manage significantly higher volumes with greater consistency and at materially lower cost.

Always be audit & regulator-ready

A single governance framework is built into platform architecture and applied consistently across rules, models, processes, and agents. SRI embeds governance within every action, leaving no gaps across systems and teams.

Agent-native platform, built for risk & compliance

Unified risk intelligence. Embedded governance. End-to-end agentic orchestration.
