

BYRNE CANAAN LAW

WEBSITE PRIVACY POLICY

Last Updated: March 27, 2026

SCOPE NOTICE: This Privacy Policy applies solely to information collected through the Byrne Canaan Law website (byrnecanaanlaw.com). It does not govern, and is expressly separate from, any information collected in connection with the provision of legal services to clients. Information shared with Byrne Canaan Law in the context of an attorney-client relationship is governed by applicable professional responsibility rules and separate engagement terms.

Byrne Canaan Law (“we,” “us,” or “our”) is committed to protecting the privacy of visitors to our website. This Privacy Policy describes how we collect, use, and share information through this website. By using this website, you acknowledge the practices described in this policy.

1. Scope of This Policy

This Privacy Policy applies exclusively to personal information collected through the Byrne Canaan Law website. It does not apply to:

- Information collected from clients in connection with legal representation or engagement — such information is subject to applicable rules of professional conduct and separate client agreements;
- Information subject to attorney-client privilege or the work product doctrine; or
- Any offline interactions, unless specifically referenced herein.

2. Information We Collect

Information You Provide

When you interact with our website, you may voluntarily provide:

- Contact information such as your name, email address, phone number, and employer;
- Inquiry or message content submitted through website contact forms; and
- Event registration information, if applicable.

Submitting information through our website does not create an attorney-client relationship. Do not submit confidential or sensitive information through this website.

Information Collected Automatically

When you visit our website, we and our service providers may automatically collect:

- Device and browser data, such as IP address, browser type, operating system, and device identifiers;
- Usage data, such as pages viewed, time spent on pages, links clicked, and referring URLs; and
- General location data based on IP address.

3. How We Use Information

We use the information collected through this website to:

- Respond to inquiries and communications submitted through the website;
- Operate, maintain, and improve the website;
- Send marketing or informational communications (with the ability to opt out);

- Analyze website usage and engagement to improve user experience;
- Comply with applicable laws and legal obligations; and
- Protect against unauthorized access, fraud, or other harmful activity.

4. How We Share Information

We do not sell personal information collected through this website. We may share information with:

- Service providers that assist in operating our website and communications, such as hosting, analytics, and marketing platforms, who are bound by contractual obligations to protect your information;
- Professional advisors, such as IT, legal, or security consultants, as necessary;
- Law enforcement or regulatory authorities when required by law or to protect legal rights; and
- Business successors in the event of a merger, acquisition, or dissolution.

We do not share personal information collected from this website with our clients or with parties involved in client matters.

5. Your Choices

- Opt-out of communications: You may unsubscribe from marketing emails by clicking the unsubscribe link in any such email or by contacting us at info@byrnekanaanlaw.com.
- Do Not Track: Our website does not currently respond to “Do Not Track” browser signals.
- Declining to provide information: You are not required to provide personal information to visit our website. Choosing not to provide requested information may limit our ability to respond to your inquiry.

6. Cookies and Tracking Technologies

Our website uses cookies and similar tracking technologies to enhance functionality and analyze site performance. These may include session cookies, persistent cookies, and third-party analytics tools (such as Google Analytics). Most browsers allow you to control or disable cookies through your browser settings. Disabling cookies may affect certain website features.

7. Third-Party Links

Our website may contain links to third-party websites or resources. These links do not constitute an endorsement of those third parties. Byrne Canaan Law is not responsible for the privacy practices or content of any third-party site. We encourage you to review the privacy policies of any external sites you visit.

8. Data Security

We maintain reasonable administrative, technical, and physical safeguards to protect information collected through this website from unauthorized access, disclosure, or misuse. No method of data transmission over the internet is completely secure, and we cannot guarantee absolute security.

9. Data Retention

We retain information collected through this website for as long as necessary to fulfill the purposes described in this policy or as required by applicable law. When information is no longer needed, we take reasonable steps to securely delete or anonymize it.

10. Children's Privacy

This website is not directed to individuals under 18 years of age, and we do not knowingly collect personal information from minors.

11. Changes to This Policy

We may update this Privacy Policy from time to time. Material changes will be reflected by updating the "Last Updated" date above. Your continued use of this website following any update constitutes your acceptance of the revised policy.
