

CVIA Advisors

Objective: Subject Matter Experts

CVIA Advisors are experienced leaders, operators, and specialists who bring depth of knowledge across industries and disciplines. As an advisor, you play a key role in shaping perspective, offering insight, guidance, and strategic input that helps strengthen both the organization and the broader innovation ecosystem in the Coachella Valley.

This role is not about day-to-day involvement, but about contributing where your expertise has the most impact. Advisors may be invited to provide input on programming, participate in curated conversations, or support the development of ideas and initiatives as they emerge.

This role is a strong fit if you:

- Have meaningful experience in your field and a desire to share it
- Think strategically and enjoy connecting ideas across industries
- Care about the growth and evolution of the Coachella Valley
- Want to contribute without a high time commitment

Commitment:

Flexible and engagement-based, with occasional opportunities to contribute insight, attend events, or support key initiatives.

If Interested:
