Season 3

Amateur survivalists are dropped into the unforgiving wilderness for the ultimate test of human instinct. No training. No supplies. No safety net. Just one person against nature's fury.

From afar, their family members and loved ones hold the power to send life-saving resources or extract their loved one from the competition altogether. Alliances are formed, loyalties are tested, and families are forced to make impossible decisions: Push their loved one to endure... or push the button to bring them home. With a fortune on the line, every choice carries consequences. In the end, only one survivalist will outlast the rest and claim the grand prize!
