WHEN SCARCITY SHRINKS THE ROOM

When resources tighten, we stop choosing the most capable person and start protecting what feels familiar. Audiences leave with a framework for recognizing scarcity thinking in their organizations and the tools to disrupt it before it costs them their best leaders.

RESILIENCE AFTER ROCK BOTTOM: Lessons Learned on the Farm

The most powerful leadership lessons never happen in a classroom. Through stories of resilience and building in the margins of an already full life, audiences rediscover exactly what they are made of and leave knowing how to get back up and build the kind of capital that compounds over a lifetime.

ABOUT TAMIKO:

Your Next Keynote Speaker

Tamiko McGurk grew up behind the wheel of a tractor on an Indiana farm, where she learned resilience, resourcefulness, and how to build something meaningful in whatever margins were left. Today, she helps women leaders stop shrinking and step into the rooms they were always meant to own, using the same capital-building mindset she learned between the rows of corn and soybeans and from the seat of a tractor. Maxwell Leadership Certified. Farm-built and fearless.

JOIN THE CAPITAL GAINS COLLECTIVE

The Capital Gains Collective was created to help women build whole-life abundance by developing the internal and external capital needed to thrive mentally, physically, emotionally, spiritually, financially, and within their communities. Because if you are only building one form of capital while neglecting the others, you will never feel whole. Join the Collective to thrive with other like-minded women, led by Tamiko McGurk.
