What is lymphedema?

Lymphedema is long-term swelling caused by a buildup of lymph fluid when the lymphatic system cannot drain it effectively. It often affects an arm or leg and may cause heaviness, tightness and skin changes. A personalized care plan can help control swelling and improve comfort.

A treatment plan that fits you

Garments and pumps have different roles. Your physician or lymphedema therapist determines the right combination for your needs.

01

Compression garments

Stockings and custom flat-knit garments apply controlled pressure to help contain swelling. The prescribed style, compression level and fit matter.

02

Wraps & nighttime care

Adjustable wraps can be an alternative to bandaging. Special nighttime garments may support swelling control during rest when prescribed.

03

Pneumatic compression pumps

An air pump inflates chambers in a leg sleeve in cycles to help move fluid. It may complement garments and other care when prescribed.

04

Complete decongestive therapy

Therapist-led care may combine compression bandaging, skin care, exercise and manual lymphatic drainage. Home care helps maintain results.

Getting started with American Homecare Equipment

1. Talk with your provider. Ask which garment type and compression level are appropriate.
2. Contact our team. We can review your prescription, product options and ordering requirements.
3. Confirm fit and coverage. Measurements, documentation and plan benefits determine the next steps. Coverage and product availability vary.

Use compression as directed. New or sudden swelling, redness, warmth, pain or fever needs prompt medical evaluation. Ask your clinician before starting garments or pump therapy.
