

Prof. W. Chitra

Professor & HOD

Prof. W. Chitra serves as Professor & HOD in the Department of Community Health Nursing, bringing 26 years of rich academic and professional experience. She holds a Master of Science in Nursing (Community Health Nursing) from Sacred Heart Nursing College.

Throughout her career, she has made significant contributions to nursing education by guiding undergraduate and postgraduate research projects and serving as Organizing Secretary for various workshops and conferences. She has been appointed as an Inspector under the Indian Nursing Council, New Delhi, and The Tamil Nadu Dr. M.G.R. Medical University, Chennai.

She has completed several professional development programmes, including the Climate Ready Classrooms Public Health Faculty Development Course by Columbia University's GCCHE, the Basics of Forensic Nursing course by the Indo Pacific Association of Forensic Nursing Sciences, and a faculty development programme on effective research paper writing and scholarly publishing organized by TNAI. An active researcher, she has published 10 papers in reputed peer-reviewed journals and conferences and is a Life Member of the Trained Nurses Association of India (TNAI).