2010 Annual Report

Message from the Chairman and the Executive Director

Mission

Empowering and giving hope to individuals and families affected by facial differences

Vision

A world where all people are accepted for who they are, not how they look.

In 2010 Children's Craniofacial Association steadfastly continued to follow its strategic plan to further the mission of empowering and giving hope to individuals and families affected by facial differences.

During 2010 we added to our series of booklets and translated them to Spanish. We continued other programs such as financial assistance, publishing quarterly newsletters, maintaining CCAKids.org website, and many more.

Despite a tenuous economy, CCA continues to keep the longstanding tradition of delivering high quality programs and services to families affected by facial differences. In fact, CCA increased the budget for funding programs and services. We are able to do this largely because of the dedication of the CCA families and their fundraisers. Yes, the very families CCA serves, roll up their sleeves and hold events across the country, so we can continue to provide much needed support and resources for families going through the same experiences.

CCA is proud of and thankful for our many volunteers including physicians and other healthcare professionals who write booklets and contribute to our newsletters and webinars, the Italian Club of Dallas who get out the newsletters and other mailings, and the hundreds of others, all over the United States who help raise awareness. It is because of each and everyone of you that we are able to effectively and efficiently serve thousands of families who are affected by craniofacial differences.

CCA is not funded by government programs, so we rely on the generosity of individuals as well as corporate and foundation grants. We wish to thank each and every person who supported CCA in 2010. It was because of your generosity, CCA was able to improve the quality of life for these most deserving families.

Education - Support

Cher's Family Retreat

When there's a family member with a craniofacial difference, there is often a feeling of isolation, of being the only ones going through this medical and emotional maze. If only you could commiserate with others. For 21 years, CCA has offered just that opportunity. Held in a different part of the United States each year, our goal is bringing families together for a weekend, in an emotionally safe environment, where they can share resources and experiences and offer and receive support from others and for many, make life-long friendships. Some 350 attendees had just that opportunity in Boston, MA in 2010. Individuals affected by craniofacial differences ranged in age from 2 years to 64 years. But regardless of the age, each person leaves with a renewed spirit.

Craniofacial Symposium

Three years ago, an additional educational dimension was added to the Family Retreat experience in the form of a craniofacial symposium. In 2010, held on Thursday prior to the start of the Retreat, members from the craniofacial team at Boston Children's Hospital volunteered their time and expertise to present to parents, teens and youngsters on a variety of topics of interest to each member of the family. Adult attendees had an opportunity to learn the latest in medical and psychological treatment. Exercises offered to the youngsters helped build confidence and positive self-esteem.

Awareness - Acceptance

National Outreach Efforts

Awareness of craniofacial conditions is vital on many levels and CCA enlists the help of our constituents to "get the word out." In 2010, fifteen volunteers joined CCA's outreach effort, bringing the total to 133 volunteers across the country. These folks distribute packets of information to healthcare providers and facilities in their communities. The goal is to raise awareness and to identify families who might benefit from CCA's programs and services and to ensure families are aware of the qualified craniofacial centers across the United States and internationally.

PICNIC

National Craniofacial Acceptance Month

Being accepted by others is a natural human desire, but it's not often easy for those with facial differences, particularly at school, on the playground and in social settings. Programs helping children—and adults—to look beyond differences and search for similarities took place across the country during September 2010.

CCA envisions a world where all people are accepted for who they look. Working through its network of members each September, CCA takes this message to the community as part of National Craniofacial Acceptance Month. The campaign theme is "beyond the face

National Picnic Day

In 2010 as part of Craniofacial Acceptance Month, CCA families, friends and volunteers held picnics across the United States. The goal was to create awareness of craniofacial differences in the communities where they are held, and to get people to see that "beyond the face is a heart."

Assistance - Networking

Financial Assistance

Children and adults with craniofacial conditions must be treated by physicians and healthcare professionals working together as a highly qualified, craniofacial specialty team. Because these teams may not exist in many areas of the country, families often have to travel away from home for treatment. Even with good insurance, these trips take a significant toll on a family's budget. When there is a need, CCA provides financial assistance to families for food, travel and lodging, so their children can receive quality medical intervention. In 2010 CCA helped 53 families with 63 medically necessary trips.

Facebook On-line Social Networking

In 2010 CCA provided several networking opportunities for families affected by facial differences, allowing them to support one another 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. Around 850 friends joined CCA's facebook page, while 103 new members were added to the CCA Yahoo Support Group. This gives families an opportunity to chat casually and get to know each other, to share feelings and experiences and to offer advice. It helps them realize they are a part of a larger community and that they are not alone in their craniofacial journey. CCA CarePages provided a place for families to post about surgeries and treatment, saving them the task of individually contacting all of their family and friends.

Information - Resources

There was a time when families had to seek out medical papers or pore over medical journals to educate themselves about craniofacial anomalies and syndromes with which they or their children were affected. That was until CCA started publishing syndrome booklets in a way that the lay person could easily understand. Now CCA also publishes educational and supportive information in booklet form as well as one-sheet-overviews and a quarterly newsletter. And, all of these educational materials, as well as many other resources, may be found on our website at www.ccakids.org.

Syndrome Booklets

In 2010 CCA published A Guide to Understanding Frontonasal Dysplasia, the 14th in the series of syndrome booklets. These booklets are written in an easy to read and understand format, by physicians who are members of a craniofacial specialty team. In addition, the first 13 booklets were translated to Spanish and are available on ccakids.org.

One-Sheet Overviews

CCA began publishing one sheet overviews on subjects related to craniofacial conditions. The first topic concerned issues related to the feet of a person who has Apert Syndrome. Others will follow in 2011.

website

CCAkids.org continues to be one of the most comprehensive of family support websites. It is a one-stop-shop for anyone interested in finding out about craniofacial conditions or needing support.

Newsletters

CCA continues the tradition of a well written and designed, highly educational, quarterly newsletter that is informative as well as supportive to the 17,000 families, volunteers, donors and interested households receiving them. This periodical also serves to spread awareness and education in medical facility waiting rooms across the nation.

Fundraising

Family Fundraisers

Children's Craniofacial Association does not receive government funding. We rely on the generosity of individuals, corporations and foundations to support our programs and services allowing us to further our mission.

Again in 2010, the very families CCA serves, stepped forward and held fundraisers across the nation—everything from simple yard sales and lemonade stands to full-out golf tournaments and 5K runs, involving entire communities—all to ensure others dealing with similar circumstances will be able to benefit from CCA's services. These efforts involved reaching out to local area businesses as well as individual donors—many of whom stay on year after year as regular charity contributors. The CCA family and friends fundraisers raised about one third of the total budget in 2010.

CCA collaborated with The Jorge Posada Foundation for the 3rd consecutive year as beneficiary of their annual fundraiser. This year the BaseBowl event raised over $75,000.

We wish to extend a heart-felt thank you to every one who supported CCA during 2010.
