WHAT MAKES A NURSERY SPECIAL?

A truly special nursery is shaped by many interconnected qualities. Families may look for a setting's values, its curriculum, the way staff interact with children, the level of parent partnership, or the strength of its Additional Needs provision. Each of these elements plays an important role in creating an environment where children feel secure, supported, and inspired.

At Nelly's Nursery, we bring all of these aspects together with intention and care. We recognise how significant the early years are, and we are committed to providing high-quality, personalised care and meaningful learning experiences that nurture every stage of your child's development. Our focus is on creating a warm, inclusive, and enriching environment where every child can thrive.

HOW DO WE DO THIS AT NELLY'S?

At the heart of our practice is a commitment to kindness, care, and strong, positive relationships. We want every child — and every family — to feel confident, welcomed, and comfortable from the moment they step through our doors.

Our children benefit from consistent, nurturing connections with our staff, and these relationships shape the way they learn, interact, and care for one another. With trained ANCOs across the nursery, we work closely with families to ensure each child receives the support and provision that best meets their individual needs.

We are also proud to be an active part of our local community. Children of all ages have opportunities to explore the village, develop new skills, build confidence, and show kindness to the people and places around them. These experiences help them grow into curious, capable, and compassionate young learners.

PARENT INVOLVEMENT

We truly value parent involvement. Building strong, trusting relationships with families helps each child settle confidently into their environment. When parents feel welcomed and supported, children feel safe to express themselves and build secure bonds with the staff who care for them each day.

At Nelly's, we strive to ensure every child feels safe, understood, and valued — and that sense of security begins with the trust their family places in us. We want parents and carers to feel just as welcome as their children, creating a shared foundation where everyone can thrive.
