A fantastic formulation alone may not be enough to secure the modern consumer's loyalty in today's cosmetic industry. With so many brands launching and fighting for attention, building strong brand retention is more important than ever.

With customers looking for advanced functionality, eco-friendly features and all at a reasonable price, SR Packaging has created its new Refillable Airless Range to keep everyone happy.

EBM technology is used across the airless lines from the Repod jar to bottles and Shuttle packs. With their (100%) recyclable cartridges, consumers can enjoy more affordable refill options that in turn reduce the environmental impact.

This sustainable and economic purchase system builds a strong bond between brands and consumers, encouraging habitual purchases.

Lock in customers with SR Packaging EBM Airless Refill ranges, the ideal packaging partner for forward-thinking skincare brands.
