Visum to unveil 2023 product suite at IAAPA Orlando

Visum Technologies Plc (AQSE: VIS), the video technology company focused on the global leisure market, is pleased to announce that the Company's CEO, Marc Dixon, and VP of sales & marketing, Beth Newman, will be unveiling Visum's 2023 product suite at IAAPA Expo 22 in Orlando, November 15-18, 2022 as part of the Company's ongoing development of the North American market.

This will see two new ground-breaking products being revealed that will complement Visum's existing rugged, high-definition, VTR video capture camera - which is able to withstand permanent vibrations - and its digital distribution platform, VTX, that creates and distributes real-time branded video content that is fully integratable into all the main social media platforms.

About Visum Technologies

Visum Technologies Plc (AQSE: VIS) is a video technology company focused on the global leisure market.

Its mission is to revolutionise the power of video capture, initially focusing on specific niches within the leisure industry. Through its IP-protected hardware and software, Visum captures, creates, and distributes branded, real-time, digital video content from the most extreme locations in formats that are fully integrated with today's social media platforms. Where Visum sees complementary technology that can improve its core offering, accelerate its global footprint, or take its technology into new markets, it will partner or acquire. www.visumtechnologies.net
