3. Scope of Services and Third-Party Providers

3.1 The Company operates in two distinct capacities, as further described in the Company's Service Terms, which is incorporated into these Terms by reference.

3.2 Direct Services. The Company provides a variety of administrative, technical, and advisory services in various industries directly. These include tech infrastructure setup/maintenance, business development, system integrations, reporting, and general consultancy and advisory. The Company also provides introductions to providers within its trusted network and coordinates administrative communication and facilitates onboarding between the client and such providers (collectively, the "Direct Services"). The Direct Services do not include any regulated or license-dependent activity, and in providing them the Company does not carry out any provider's onboarding, due diligence, or compliance functions.

3.3 Network Services. Certain regulated or license-dependent services — including, without limitation, company formation and licensing, payment processing, banking and bank accounts, and debit card programs (collectively, the "Network Services") — are not provided by the Company. In respect of such services, the Company acts as a referrer to duly licensed third-party providers within its trusted network, and its role is limited to consultation, coordination, and assistance. The Company may or may not receive a commission or other financial benefit in connection with such referrals, depending on the terms of the applicable client agreement and provider agreement in each case. The Company is not licensed to provide, and does not itself provide, the Network Services. The Company is not the agent of any provider, has no authority to bind any provider, and makes no representation, warranty, or guarantee as to any provider's acceptance, approval, pricing, timelines, or outcomes. Each provider is solely responsible for delivering its own regulated services and for its own regulatory compliance.

3.4 Independent Status. The Company acts as an independent, external service provider. The Company holds no ownership interest, shareholding, or equity stake in any client business and is not a principal or owner of any such business. Where the Company provides operational or administrative services, it does so on the client's behalf and under the client's licence and direction, as an independent contractor on terms agreed between the parties in the applicable client agreement.

3.5 Client Funds. The Company does not take custody of, hold, receive, or transmit client funds on behalf of any third party. Payments for third-party and Network Services are made by the client directly to the relevant provider. The Company also does not access, hold, or control any funds belonging to a client's own customers or end users (including, for example, traders' funds held by a brokerage); responsibility for such funds rests solely with the client and its regulated providers. The Company does not operate, and does not hold itself out as operating, any payment, money services, e-money, money transmission, or custody service.

3.6 Nature of Relationship. The Company's engagement with a client is advisory and contractual in nature and does not create any fiduciary relationship. Network Services are provided by the relevant licensed providers, who contract directly with the client for their own services.

3.7 No Regulated Advice. The Company's consultancy and advisory services consist of general business, operational, and structuring guidance only. They do not constitute legal, tax, accounting, financial, investment, or other regulated professional advice, and no such advice is provided unless separately agreed in writing and delivered by an appropriately qualified or licensed party. Clients are responsible for obtaining their own independent professional advice before acting.

4.1 All content on the Website, including but not limited to text, graphics, logos, trademarks, and digital materials (the "Content"), is and shall remain the exclusive property of the Company or its licensors.

6. Disclaimers and Limitation of Liability

- (a) the Content is accurate, complete, or reliable; or
- (b) the Website will be available at all times or free from errors or security vulnerabilities.

6.2 Limitation of Liability. To the fullest extent permitted by applicable law, the Company shall not be liable for:

- (a) any indirect, incidental, special, punitive, or consequential damages arising out of or in connection with your use of the Website; or
- (b) any loss of data, business, or profits resulting from Website downtime, errors, or reliance on the Content.

To the fullest extent permitted by applicable law, the Company shall not be liable for any act, omission, delay, error, default, insolvency, or failure of any third-party provider, or for any provider's acceptance, rejection, performance, or non-performance of the Network Services. The client's sole recourse in respect of the Network Services is against the relevant provider, with which the client contracts directly.

6.3 Where liability cannot be excluded and is established, the aggregate liability of the Company shall not exceed the amount, if any, paid by you to the Company for services.

7. Governing Law and Jurisdiction

7.1 These Terms shall be governed by and construed in accordance with the laws of the British Virgin Islands, without regard to its conflict of law principles.
