CURTAINS

Double Pinch Pleat

Since double pinch pleat drapes hang on rings/hooks, they glide easily on the pole/track making for a fuss-free movement when you open and shut the drapes.

Triple Pinch Pleat

A major advantage of triple pleat curtains is that they 'stack back' very neatly and in a relatively small space, making them the perfect choice for door curtains or windows with little wall space either side for 'stack back'.

Inverted Pleat

Inverted pleat curtains are well suited to both rods and curtain tracks. Because the pleats sit at the back of the curtain, they stack very neatly when opened – perfect for areas where there is limited space to the side of a window or sliding door.

Pencil Pleat

Pencil pleat curtains are popular in bedrooms, dining rooms, living rooms and porch doors to keep the draft out and provide privacy. Due to their classic feel, they're popular in traditional interior styling.

Goblet Pleat

Tucked and folded, it is open at the very top to give a 'goblet' or 'wineglass' look. Can be hung from a track or a pole. The fullness and structure of goblet pleat curtains can help to block out light and sound.

Knife Pleat

Knife pleating is the best way to treat a sloped or raked ceiling that is to have curtains. Knife pleating is also best used on the back track of a double track as the pleat sits flat, and allows the curtain on the front track to move freely.

S Wave

S-fold curtains create less bulky 'stacking' when open compared to other curtain types. Fitted to a slim, discreet curtain track so they are suitable for all standard sized windows. They work particularly well in large open-plan living rooms and kitchen-diners, although they look great anywhere.

Add that creative finishing touch to any room with a custom Pelmet from Quicksew. Available in padded or bonded, our range will enhance and compliment the style of any room.

ACOUSTIC

Quicksew
Interiors
Curtains - Blinds - Furniture

Natural light, oversized windows, high ceilings, glass boxes, open plan spaces are all aesthetically pleasing design choices loved by modern architects and interior designers. However, these beautiful spaces often present acoustic challenges, as noise reverberates, echoes and amplifies off these hard surfaces.

Noise can be unwanted sound and we are besieged with accidental and unpleasant sounds on a daily basis. Considering this, sound that is not managed, is interfering with complex task performance, speech intelligibility, behaviour, and is a potential stress inducer. This is therefore contradicting the experiences we want people to have, whether it be in the work place, relaxing in a hotel, recovering in hospital or enjoying your later years in an aged care facility.

With the aim to tackle the reflected sound within these commercial space, Quicksew offer a variety of solutions, for a harmonious balance of acoustics and aesthetics. Our Acoustic Art & Pin plus our transparent, opaque and light reduction draperies all have impressive NRC (noise reduction coefficient) ratings and are flame retardant to Australian/New Zealand standards. Our transparent range of Hush Acoustics Sheer Drapery are suitable for any space where the sound of the room, as well as lighting design are the focus.

Our Light Reduction / Opaque Acoustic Drapery Fabric is available as a plain option or printed with the iconic Quicksew print range on offer. The designs and colour choices are endless and would suit any interior space.

Quicksew Acoustic Art and Pin are additional innovative noise reduction systems that are complemented by the Quicksew print range, plus an extensive Image Library to choose from. Our Acoustic Art and Pin withstands the test of ISO/AS standards and the acoustic fill medium made from recycled PET plastic.

Light Reduction / Opaque Drapery Fabric

Our range of Light Reduction / Opaque Drapery Fabric offers an array of print designs and plain colour options to satisfy the most exacting demands in aesthetics and functionality.

These fabrics offer the look and feel of soft drape, whilst their technology offers functionality as both light reduction and acoustic control, delivering an outstanding Noise Reduction Coefficient between 0.58 and 0.71.

These fabrics are printable in any of our iconic print collections or can be used as stand alone additions, adding neutral, discreet undertones to your interior space.

Sheer Drapery Fabric

You'll hardly believe the difference a lightweight acoustic sheer will make to the reverberation and echo within office areas, conference rooms, restaurants, hotel lobbies and multi-functional halls. Our Hush Sheer Drapery Fabric; Soundcheck, Wavelength and Frequency absorb sound and improve understandability. They are semi-transparent, flame retardant (Trevira CS), wide width, durable and have noise reduction coefficient results between 0.58 and 0.62 – a combination previously unavailable for modern architecture.

Soundcheck, Wavelength and Frequency are woven with a ribbon shaped Trevira CS yarn. This modified polyester yarn filament is the key to their sound absorption, managing the flow of sound waves passing through at a particular rate. As sound passes through the fabric repeatedly, it bounces off a reflective surface changing the tone, becoming muffled.

This results in the sound losing some of its energy and therefore reduces sound levels. Soundcheck comes in five colourways – White, Sand, Pumice, Stone and Charcoal. Frequency and Wavelength come in two colourways each – White and Pumice.

Sheer Drapery Fabric in Frequency Pumice and White (top), Wavelength Pumice and Soundcheck Charcoal (bottom)

Artworks

Quicksew Acoustic Art delivers an effective, affordable and adjustable acoustic solution – perfect for any area where noise negatively effects the soundscape – while adding a visual dimension to the space.

Acoustic Pin offers the same acoustic and aesthetic benefits as Acoustic Art, with the added benefit of a slimmer profile – perfect for work space pin boards.

Both Acoustic Art and Acoustic Pin are supplied, fully assembled and ready to hang – just like normal art/pin boards. We understand that every space is unique, therefore our custom design options allow for an almost unlimited choice of design and colour, or you may choose to use your own images.

What are the benefits of Acoustic Art and Pin?

All Acoustic Art and Acoustic Pin systems are designed to securely hold fabric without the use of adhesives, nails, tacks or tape. This allows you to recycle the framework while changing the fabric 'skin' if it is damaged or a change of decoration is required. The system allows for the precise matching of both patterns and repeat at all seam locations if using multiple panels.

How does it work?

Each panel is constructed with a robust PVC tracking system that contains an acoustic polyester infill, which is the sound absorber. The sound waves pass through the outer skin of fabric, through to the infill where the sound energy is absorbed. Each of our panels are faced with Corfu, a flame retardant fabric that has a modified weave, allowing air to freely pass through it. This fabric passes the acoustic 'blow test' successfully whilst maintaining printed colour beautifully.
