Deerfield Beach, FL – September 8, 2026 - Navar Capital, LLC today announced the launch of its investment management platform, powered by its proprietary QRI™ (Quant-Real-Intelligence) framework, and the introduction of the Navar Capital Income Fund, LP and Navar Capital Growth Fund, LP available exclusively to verified accredited investors under SEC Rule 506(c).

Founded by technology entrepreneur and investor Rajesh Navar, Navar Capital combines artificial intelligence, quantitative modeling, technical and fundamental research, and disciplined risk management to identify high-growth and income-generating investment opportunities. The firm integrates advanced data analytics with real-world market insight to support active portfolio management and long-term investment decision-making.

"Successful investing requires disciplined analysis, sound judgment, and experience," said Rajesh Navar, Founder and CEO of Navar Capital. "Our unique approach combines quantitative research with decades of investing experience to identify compelling opportunities while maintaining a disciplined focus on risk management, transparency, and long-term value creation."

Rajesh brings more than 35 years of experience spanning technology, investing, and entrepreneurship. An early artificial intelligence pioneer whose research was published by IEEE, he has invested in more than 20 technology startups and successfully navigated multiple market cycles.

The Navar Capital Income Fund is designed for investors seeking current income together with long-term capital appreciation through a disciplined covered-call and dividend-focused strategy. The Navar Capital Growth Fund seeks long-term capital appreciation through an actively managed portfolio. As a matter of investment policy, both Funds operate on a non-margin basis and do not utilize leverage.
