A Word from the President

Dear Student of the Word,

Today more than ever, an accurate, balanced, and thorough knowledge of the Bible is necessary for you to help lead people to the Lord and strengthen believers in the church. Not only are cults and other groups with false teachings multiplying, but even in evangelical churches the Gospel and the requirements of the Christian life are being watered down. The way to lead others in the truth is not primarily to be aware of the false ways, but to know the true teachings of the Bible, thoroughly and deeply, both with the mind and with the heart. This is the point of our seminary motto, “In Spirit and in Truth.”

If the Lord is calling you to serve him as a minister, a missionary, or a local church teacher or leader, then you must prepare yourself with a theological education. There is no easy way to do this. It will require months and years of sacrifice and study. But be assured that God will uphold you and provide for you and bless you richly as you follow his will.

As you peruse this catalog, you will see the various programs of study. We are praying that one of them will be right for you. Open your heart to God’s leading. David asked, “Is there not a cause?” Certainly, the cause for Christ is as great today as it was for him.

Yours in Christ’s service,

Design and Purpose

Western Reformed Seminary trains Christian leaders in an atmosphere of devotion and scholarship. Established to particularly serve the Bible Presbyterian Church, WRS welcomes the opportunity of assisting students from other denominations in their preparation for fruitful Christian lives and ministries. With this in mind, the seminary has developed several basic degree programs: the Master of Divinity, the Master of Religious Education, three two-year master's programs, and the evening Master of Religious Studies. A Bachelor of Divinity degree is identical to the MDiv program in curriculum and policy.

Programs

The three-year degree programs offer a thorough study of biblical content, biblical languages, exegesis, systematic theology, and church history, together with appropriate practical or professional studies:

The Master of Divinity is the standard three-year course of preparation for the gospel ministry.

The Bachelor of Divinity is identical to the MDiv except that it is offered for students holding an Associate of Arts or its academic equivalent.

The two-year master's programs are designed for students seeking solid theological and biblical training in two years. These three programs are adapted to the student's interest and calling:

The Master of Christian Ministry will provide foundational training for ministry, with a specialization in either Church Ministry or Biblical Counseling.

These three-year and two-year master's degree programs may be taken as a preparatory step for another graduate or post-graduate work.

In any of the programs offered by WRS, missionaries, educators, and Christian workers may wish to specialize in a particular area of study without completing the entire program. Those who choose not to pursue a degree but are seeking academic stimulation in spiritual matters are welcome to register as special students or auditors.

The seminary will admit capable students into its programs who have not completed the required prerequisite degrees but demonstrate the ability to study at the seminary level. Such a student who completes one of the programs will be awarded a certificate of completion for that program.

Spiritual Life

Several features give enhanced spiritual direction at the seminary for day students. First, faculty and students participate in a weekly chapel service of prayer, praise, and preaching. Students often organize other informal meetings for prayer, Bible study, and fellowship.

Practical courses address the needs of the student's daily Christian life. Classes in Discipleship and Evangelism provide each student with the tools and encouragement necessary to share his or her Christian faith with both believers and unbelievers.

Doctrinal Position

All studies at the seminary are within the guiding doctrinal system of the Westminster Standards as adopted by the Bible Presbyterian Church in 1938; the eschatological perspective is premillennial. A fuller expression of the seminary's doctrinal position is found on its website: <https://wrs.edu/about/doctrinal-position>.

WRS seeks to strengthen all Bible-believing churches to stand for the historic Christian faith in days when many churches have fallen into compromise and apostasy. We believe that the Reformed faith, lived out in obedience to God, is the fullest expression of biblical Christianity and therefore is the best antidote to Satan's attacks against the Church of Christ.

Through the seminary personnel, its programs of study, and all of its operations, Western Reformed Seminary desires to be faithful to the Christ of the Scriptures in developing Christian leaders. In so doing, the seminary's prayer is that its students and graduates will go forth with the life purpose of serving the Savior "in spirit and in truth."

History

Western Reformed Seminary was founded in 1983, and this year marked the anniversaries of many significant events on the religious calendar.

Foremost is the 500th anniversary of Luther's birth. WRS inherits and communicates the Reformation spirit of sola fidei and sola scriptura. Thorough training and submission to God's inerrant Word in precept and practice were ingredients in the ministries of reformers like Luther and Calvin, and reformation today requires no less of its leaders.

Three hundred years earlier than the founding of the seminary, organized Presbyterianism came to America. Francis Makemie arrived from Ireland in 1683 to plant churches based on the biblical pattern of the church as refined by the reformers in Scotland. American Presbyterianism, evangelical and reformed, is the heritage emphasized at WRS.

One other significant date in church history should be noted. 1983 was the golden anniversary of the Independent Board for Presbyterian Foreign Missions. It was founded in 1933 by J. Gresham Machen in response to the growing, controlling unbelief within mainline Northern Presbyterianism. Dr. Machen's action to preserve true biblical missions was the rallying point for separation from apostasy in carrying on the spiritual succession of American Presbyterianism.

In the same era, Dr. Machen and other conservative scholars were active in defending historic Christianity against the modernistic onslaught. They did not rely upon empty rhetoric or carnal weapons. Quite the contrary, these godly men wielded the truth in a scholarly manner that was irrefutable.

Desiring to promote in the northwestern United States the full-orbed Reformed theology that Dr. Machen and other Princeton scholars had bequeathed to Presbyterians standing on the Fundamentals, several Bible Presbyterian men took steps to establish an independently controlled Reformed seminary in Tacoma, Washington. The plan was approved by the Northwest Presbytery of the Bible Presbyterian Church in 1982, and in 1983, the school was incorporated in the state of Washington. In 1985, the Bible Presbyterian General Synod recognized WRS by unanimous vote as an approved independent agency meriting its support and confidence.

Western Reformed Seminary has grown from a part-time evening school to a full-time graduate institution offering a full slate of courses in several master's programs. Not only have Bible Presbyterian students profited from training at the seminary, but those from other evangelical denominations have also joined our student body because of our bond of fellowship in the inerrant Scriptures and the common salvation once delivered to the saints.

Library

Western Reformed Seminary has a highly specialized library containing the essential tools for personal development and biblical and theological research. Classic theological works are available, as well as many of the most recent studies in related fields. Augmenting these standard references are many scholarly journals and Christian periodicals, which keep students and faculty up to date on biblical research and ecclesiastical developments. WRS also offers links to a significant number of online libraries and resources at library resources.

Other easily accessible libraries may be found at Faith International University, the University of Puget Sound, Pacific Lutheran University in Tacoma, or the University of Washington in Seattle.

Location

Western Reformed Seminary is in Puyallup, Washington, amid the natural beauty of the Pacific Northwest. The region's picturesque Puget Sound and Cascade and Olympic ranges are complemented by the conveniences of the Tacoma-Seattle metropolitan area, with all its opportunities for employment, education, and ministry. WRS classes are offered at 8329 Woodland Ave E, Puyallup, WA 98371. Our office phone number is (253) 272-0417.

Recognition

Western Reformed Seminary is an approved agency of the Great Western Presbytery and General Synod of the Bible Presbyterian Church for the training of its ministers and laymen.

Western Reformed Seminary is a full member of the Association of Reformed Theological Seminaries (ARTS). Full membership in this organization is limited to those seminaries that have undergone a thorough peer review by the other members of the Association and its Commission on Accreditation. While ARTS has not sought recognition from the federal Department of Education, it judges its members by standards as those required by accrediting agencies that are so recognized. ARTS certifies that its member seminaries meet high academic standards and align with the biblical, Reformed faith. Since the Department of Education does not recognize ARTS, the transfer of WRS credits to other institutions is at the receiving institution's discretion. Furthermore, ARTS has recently been endorsed by the Council for Higher Education Accreditation (CHEA) following thorough reviews and inspections, thereby validating the quality of education at its member schools. Likewise, CHEA now recognizes WRS as one of its certified institutions (<https://www.chea.org/western-reformed-seminary>).

Veterans eligible for the G.I. Bill® may study and receive government benefits for selected academic programs taken at WRS. “GI Bill® is a registered trademark of the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs (V.A.). More information about education benefits offered by V.A. is available at the official U.S. government website at <https://www.benefits.va.gov/gibill>.” Western Reformed Seminary’s academic programs of study are approved by the Washington Student Achievement Council’s State Approving Agency (WSAC/SAA) for enrollment of persons eligible to receive educational benefits under Title 38 and Title 10, U. S. Code.

WRS is also recognized by the U.S. Bureau of Immigration and Customs Enforcement as an academic institution approved to issue F-1 student visa applications. Also, the Federal I.R.S. has granted the non-profit status, thus making all contributions to the seminary tax-deductible.

WRS is recognized by the Association of Certified Biblical Counselors for preparing candidates for certification through ACBC.

WRS is also recognized by the Association of Christian Schools International (ACSI). Courses taken at WRS may be used to satisfy the biblical studies requirement for gaining or maintaining ACSI certification for Christian teachers.

Academic Information

Academic information includes WRS entrance requirements, enrollment status, academic status, and degree programs, along with the required curricula for each.

Entrance Requirements

The degree programs of Western Reformed Seminary are designed for students who have completed a standard undergraduate program culminating in a Bachelor of Arts degree or its equivalent. Admission to the Seminary is open to qualified students of all denominations and affiliations without regard to race, color, or national origin. Above all, students are welcome who have shown evidence of the new birth and its attending fruit of the Spirit and who have the desire to develop their gifts for Christian service.

Women students seeking advanced theological training are welcome in all programs not intended for preparation for the ordained ministry or church office. Since it is the conviction of the seminary that women should not be ordained to the ministry (1 Tim. 2:11-12; 1 Cor. 14:34-35), professional degree programs (MDiv, BDiv, MCM [Church Ministry Emphasis]) and corresponding courses in the professional training department (#521, #522, #531, #532, #533, and #534) are open to men students only. Men and women students are eligible for the MCM (Biblical Counseling).

Inquiries for admission should be directed to the Registrar of the Seminary. To enroll as a student in WRS, you will need to first submit an Admissions Inquiry. Upon receipt of the admissions inquiry, the registrar will connect with you and will invite you to fill out an Application and/or Registration form. Besides submitting the application form, applicants must submit the following materials:

- A non-refundable application fee of $30.00 (there is no application fee for auditors, who need only to submit an admissions inquiry and a registration form).
- Degree Students Only
 - A typewritten statement concerning your personal salvation.
 - Official transcripts from schools beyond high school; proof that a bachelor's degree or its equivalent has been granted must be included in the transcript if the candidate intends to receive his master's degree; B.Div. candidates must submit proof of an A.A. or its equivalent.
 - Letters of reference from a
 - Pastor or Elder (This prospective student has the endorsement of his church)
 - Professor, Employer, or family member (This prospective student has the work ethic and character to be a successful seminary student)

MDiv/BDiv Students Only

- Essay on reasons for seminary training
- Plans for future ministry

Generally, all applications and credentials should be submitted at least 8 weeks before the registration date. Late registrations will not be accepted after the second week of classes.

Preliminary Tests

MDiv/BDiv candidates are encouraged to receive training in the appropriate biblical languages before entering seminary to launch directly into biblical studies. For those desiring exemption from certain language courses, preliminary tests may be taken at registration to display the student's level of proficiency.

Enrollment Status

Full-time Students

A full-time student is one who carries a minimum of 12 credit hours per semester in the day programs.

Transfer Students

Students transferring from other recognized graduate institutions may schedule an appointment with the Academic Office to transfer credit for courses that parallel those prescribed by WRS. The final determination will be made by the administration in consultation with the relevant Department Chairmen, based on the student's transcript, the catalog of his previous institution, and the caliber of his work after one semester at WRS.

MDiv/BDiv candidates must spend no less than two full semesters (32 credit hours) in residence, and MCM candidates no less than 24 credit hours in residence.

Special Students

A special student is one not seeking a seminary degree. This category of students includes auditors and those taking a few select courses for personal enrichment.

Auditors

Students not seeking academic credit may enroll in any number of courses with few exceptions: language classes may not be audited, and degree students may not audit propaedeutic classes required for their programs. If an auditor attends at least 75% of the class sessions, a transcript will be kept for the auditor indicating that regular class attendance was maintained. Privileges of auditors include class attendance, participation in discussions, access to class materials, and full use of the library. Auditors are not permitted to submit homework for review or grading.

Foreign Students

Western Reformed Seminary is recognized by the U.S. Bureau of Immigration and Customs Enforcement as an academic school approved for issuing F-1 student visa applications.

By law, a non-resident foreign student seeking admission to WRS must be able to document proof of his personal financial support (and his or her immediate family's support if family members accompany him or her) while in the U.S. This documentation will be submitted to the student's American consulate when applying for a student visa. Forms to apply for a student visa will be supplied by WRS after the enrollment application and fee are received.

Foreign students applying from countries where English is not the mother tongue must demonstrate their fluency in English. This may be done through submitting the results of a TOEFL (Test of English as a Foreign Language) examination to the Registrar or by a letter of commendation from an English-speaking acquaintance whom the seminary would recognize as being capable of evaluating the student's level of proficiency. Some foreign students may be admitted to WRS on a one-year probationary basis, depending on their level of achievement and progress in using the English language.

Academic Status

Academic Records, Grades, and Transcripts

Western Reformed Seminary maintains complete and accurate academic records for all students in accordance with applicable federal and state regulations and institutional policies. Faculty members submit final course grades to the Registrar at the conclusion of each academic term. Grades are recorded as part of the student's permanent academic record and are used to determine academic standing, degree progress, graduation eligibility, and the awarding of honors.

The Seminary maintains official academic records, including transcripts, for all current and former students. Official transcripts provide a permanent record of courses attempted, grades earned, credits awarded, academic credentials conferred, and other relevant academic information. Students may review their academic records and request official transcripts through the Office of the Registrar in accordance with Seminary procedures.

Academic records, including grade records and official transcripts, are retained for a minimum of three (3) years as required by the U.S. Department of Education. Permanent transcript records documenting academic achievement and degrees awarded are maintained indefinitely. Student records are stored in a secure manner, whether in electronic or physical form, with access limited to authorized personnel. The Seminary safeguards the confidentiality of student education records and complies with the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) and other applicable laws governing the privacy and disclosure of student information.

Grading

A letter system is used for recording grades. An A, B, C, or D is a passing grade, while an F represents failure and necessitates repeating the course. For purposes of averaging, percentage equivalents and grade points are as follows:

A	= 95-100	= 4.0
A-	= 93-94	= 3.7
B+	= 91-92	= 3.3
B	= 85-90	= 3.0
B-	= 83-84	= 2.7
C+	= 81-82	= 2.3
C	= 75-80	= 2.0
C-	= 73-74	= 1.7
D	= 68-72	= 1.0
F	= 67-0	= 0.0

A course grade may be listed temporarily as “Incomplete.” All students are to complete the work for their course by the end of the month during which final exams are held. If the course is incomplete after this point, the student will be charged a 30-day course extension fee, assessed at 20% of the course tuition. A maximum of two extensions is allowed; if the course is still incomplete after this time, the course will be finalized, and any incomplete assignments will receive a failing grade.

A course average of 65-67 will allow the failing student to raise his grade average to 68 by successfully completing a make-up examination or assignment. The make-up must be arranged by the student at the professor’s convenience and taken no later than two weeks after the start of the next semester.

Semester grades will be supplied within 30 days after the end of the semester. A transcript (“progress report”) of all coursework is kept up to date and made available to all students with current accounts.

Drop-Add Deadline

No course may be added or dropped by a student except upon notification to the Registrar. A “drop-add” form from the Registrar should be completed by the student immediately upon making any course change; the date of completion makes the change official and may affect possible refunds due to the student. When adding a course, written consent from the professor involved must be obtained.

Courses may be added up through the second week of classes, and any courses dropped at this time will not be shown on the transcript.

Courses dropped during the fourth to tenth weeks of the semester will be shown on the transcript as withdrawn passing (W/P) or withdrawn failing (W/F). Any course dropped after the tenth week will be recorded with a letter grade based on the relevant course and attendance requirements.

Attendance Policy

Attendance and Participation

Because theological education is centered upon the faithful study of Scripture, meaningful interaction with faculty and fellow students, and preparation for Christian ministry, regular attendance and active participation in every class meeting are expected of all students. Students are responsible for all material presented in class, including lectures, discussions, assignments, quizzes, and examinations, regardless of the reason for any absence.

General Attendance Requirements

Recognizing that illness, family emergencies, military obligations, or other unforeseen circumstances may occasionally prevent attendance, each student is permitted one (1) class-hour absence for each semester credit hour of the course without academic penalty. For example:

- 1-credit course: up to 1 class-hour absence
- 2-credit course: up to 2 class-hour absences
- 3-credit course: up to 3 class-hour absences

Absences beyond this allowance may result in a reduction of the final course grade at the discretion of the instructor. Students are expected to notify the instructor as soon as reasonably possible when an unavoidable absence occurs.

Students remain responsible for completing all assignments and making arrangements with the instructor regarding any missed coursework. Faculty members are not required to repeat lectures, provide alternative instruction, or permit make-up work except as required by institutional policy or applicable law.

Excessive Absences

Students whose absences substantially hinder their ability to achieve a course's learning objectives may receive additional grade penalties, be required to withdraw from the course, or receive a failing grade, regardless of their academic performance on completed assignments.

Repeated tardiness or leaving class early may be counted as partial absences at the instructor's discretion.

In-Person Attendance

Courses designated as residential, or in-person, require physical attendance at the scheduled class meetings. Unless specifically approved as part of the course design, remote participation, livestream viewing, or recorded lectures do not constitute attendance.

Attendance is determined by the student's physical presence and participation in scheduled instructional activities.

Attendance Requirements for Students Receiving VA Education Benefits

Students receiving educational benefits administered by the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) are expected to maintain regular attendance and satisfactory academic progress in accordance with institutional policies and all applicable federal regulations.

The Seminary is required to maintain accurate records of class attendance, enrollment status, course withdrawals, and changes affecting certification of VA educational benefits. Students receiving VA benefits should understand that:

Failure to begin attending a certified course may result in the Seminary reporting the student as a "no-show."

Withdrawal, unofficial withdrawal, excessive absences resulting in administrative action, or termination of attendance may require the Seminary to report changes in enrollment to the VA.

Such changes may affect eligibility for current or future VA educational benefits and may result in adjustments or repayment obligations determined by the VA.

Students receiving VA educational benefits are encouraged to promptly communicate with both their instructor and the School Certifying Official whenever their attendance may be affected by illness, military obligations, or other significant circumstances.

Attendance Requirements for F-1 International Students

International students on F-1 visas are required by United States immigration regulations to maintain full-time enrollment and satisfy all attendance and academic engagement requirements established by the Seminary.

Failure to maintain regular attendance may constitute a failure to maintain status if it results in:

administrative withdrawal from a course, enrollment below the required full-time course load without prior authorization, failure to begin attendance in a registered course, or other violations of institutional or federal requirements.

The Seminary is required to maintain accurate enrollment records through the Student and Exchange Visitor Information System (SEVIS). Students are responsible for promptly communicating any attendance concerns, medical issues, or exceptional circumstances to both the instructor and the Designated School Official (DSO). Failure to do so may jeopardize the student's F-1 immigration status.

Excused Absences

The Seminary recognizes that legitimate circumstances may occasionally prevent attendance. These may include: personal illness, serious illness or death in the immediate family, military service or reserve obligations, jury duty, approved Seminary activities, or other circumstances approved by the Registrar.

Whenever possible, students should notify the instructor before the absence occurs. Excused absences do not automatically relieve the student of the responsibility to complete missed assignments or satisfy course requirements.

Auditors

Students auditing a course are expected to attend regularly and participate appropriately. To receive transcript notation indicating successful completion of an audit, auditors must meet the minimum attendance required for credit students in that course. Excessive absences may result in the audit designation not being recorded on the transcript.

Faculty Responsibilities

Faculty members shall maintain accurate attendance records for each class meeting throughout the academic term. Attendance records constitute part of the Seminary's official academic record and may be required for institutional accreditation, financial aid compliance, veterans' educational benefits, immigration reporting, or other legal and regulatory purposes.

Academic Probation and Dismissal

Students must maintain a cumulative grade average of at least a C (2.0 GPA). Those with averages below this minimum will be automatically placed on academic probation until their cumulative grade average rises above the probationary level. The faculty will exercise special oversight of probationary students. Any student on academic probation whose semester average falls below a C (2.0 GPA) will be suspended from the seminary for a minimum period of one full semester. Thereafter, he may seek re-entry by submitting a written appeal to the Academic Office. A student dismissed a second time shall not be readmitted.

These basic standards take for granted that a student will conduct himself maturely and professionally and will demonstrate Christian conduct. The seminary reserves the right, by the action of the faculty, to dismiss any student whose behavior is not in harmony with the biblical standards accepted by the seminary.

Student Conduct and Conditions for Dismissal

Student Conduct

Western Reformed Seminary is committed to providing a Christ-centered academic community that promotes spiritual growth, academic excellence, and personal integrity. Students are expected to conduct themselves in a manner consistent with biblical principles, the Seminary's Statement of Faith, and all institutional policies. Enrollment at the Seminary is a privilege that entails the responsibility to uphold standards of Christian character, honesty, respect, and accountability.

Students are expected to:

1. Demonstrate integrity in academic work and personal conduct.
2. Treat fellow students, faculty, staff, and visitors with dignity, respect, and Christian charity.
3. Comply with all Seminary policies, procedures, and applicable laws.
4. Maintain conduct that reflects the values and mission of the Seminary.
5. Refrain from behavior that disrupts the educational process or damages the reputation or ministry of the Seminary.

Unsatisfactory Conduct

Conduct that may be considered unsatisfactory includes, but is not limited to:

1. Academic dishonesty, including plagiarism, cheating, falsification of records, or unauthorized use of another person's work.
2. Knowingly providing false or misleading information to the Seminary.
3. Disruptive, abusive, threatening, harassing, or discriminatory behavior.
4. Theft, vandalism, destruction, or misuse of Seminary property or the property of others.
5. Failure to comply with Seminary policies, directives, or disciplinary actions.
6. Criminal conduct or other behavior that materially affects the student's ability to fulfill the Seminary's standards of Christian conduct.
7. Any conduct that is inconsistent with the Seminary's doctrinal commitments, mission, or expectations for Christian character.

Disciplinary Action

When concerns regarding student conduct arise, the Seminary seeks to address them in a manner that is biblical, fair, and, whenever possible, restorative. Depending upon the nature and severity of the conduct, disciplinary action may include:

1. Verbal or written warning.
2. Required counseling or corrective action.
3. Disciplinary probation.
4. Suspension for a specified period.
5. Dismissal from the Seminary.

The Seminary reserves the right to impose immediate suspension or dismissal when student conduct presents a serious threat to the safety, welfare, mission, or orderly operation of the institution or involves serious violations of Seminary policy.

Conditions for Dismissal

A student may be dismissed from the Seminary for reasons including, but not limited to:

1. Repeated or serious violations of the Student Conduct Policy.
2. Academic dishonesty or fraud.
3. Failure to comply with disciplinary sanctions.
4. Conduct that demonstrates an unwillingness to abide by the Seminary's standards of Christian behavior.
5. Criminal conduct or actions that materially interfere with the Seminary's educational mission.

6. Any behavior that, in the judgment of the Seminary administration, is incompatible with continued enrollment.

Due Process

Before dismissal, the student will ordinarily be notified of the concerns and given an opportunity to respond. The Seminary may conduct an appropriate review of the circumstances before rendering a decision. Decisions regarding suspension or dismissal are made by the appropriate Seminary administrator or committee and may be appealed according to the Seminary's established grievance or appeals procedures.

Nothing in this policy limits the Seminary's authority to take immediate action when necessary to protect students, employees, institutional property, or the integrity of the Seminary's educational mission.

Academic Requirements for Graduation

Students shall have a minimum cumulative grade point average of 2.0 in their program to be considered a candidate for graduation.

Degree Programs and Curricula

Western Reformed Seminary offers four different degrees. A Bachelor of Arts degree or its academic equivalent is required to receive a master's degree in any of the three master's programs; an Associate of Arts degree or its academic equivalent is required to receive the BDiv degree.

The standard course of preparation for the gospel ministry or related callings is the Master of Divinity program. This is a professional degree that provides the tools necessary for the exposition and application of the Scriptures and prepares the pastoral candidate for the ecclesiastical requirements for ordination.

The MDiv curriculum involves a balanced study of the two testaments in the original languages, complemented by an intensive study of systematic theology broken down into its various sub-branches. Also included are studies of modern ecclesiastical events and issues, as well as a survey of church history. Rounding out the curriculum is the practical training received from the Christian Ministry department.

Bachelor of Divinity

The Bachelor of Divinity and Master of Divinity programs share the same curriculum and requirements. Therefore, the BDiv is a professional degree program designed to prepare mature students for various types of Christian service.

Upgrade from Bachelor of Divinity to Master of Divinity

Because the Bachelor of Divinity (BDiv) and Master of Divinity (MDiv) programs at Western Reformed Seminary share identical curricular and graduation requirements, a graduate who was awarded the Bachelor of Divinity solely because he did not possess a previously earned bachelor's degree may petition the Board of Directors for an upgrade to the Master of Divinity. The petition must include official documentation demonstrating completion of a bachelor's degree or its recognized equivalent from an accredited institution of higher education. The Board of Directors shall determine whether the documentation satisfies Seminary policy. If approved, the Seminary will update the graduate's official transcript and institutional records and issue a Master of Divinity diploma reflecting the Board's action. Approval of such petitions is at the sole discretion of the Board of Directors.

Two-Year Master Program Description

MCM (Master of Christian Ministry)

- ✓ Church Ministry Emphasis
- ✓ Biblical Counseling Emphasis

The two-year master's programs involve two years of full-time study, including a student project. The two-year master's program provides the elements necessary for Christian service or further graduate study without requiring the student to take an extra year of professional MDiv studies in the fullest preparation for the gospel ministry.

The Master of Christian Ministry trains students for Christian service. It does not provide all the standard tools for the ministry that the MDiv does. Rather, it focuses on professional training without the full complement of theological and language studies. The Church Ministry emphasis offers training in the challenges and opportunities of church leadership. On the other hand, the Biblical Counseling emphasis offers a battery of courses in counseling philosophy and methodology that is distinctly biblical in its approach.

Student Benefits

Anti-inflation Feature

The rate at which a full-time student enrolls in his degree program will remain constant throughout a three- or four-year course, even if regular fees increase after his first year. This guarantee cannot be given to special or part-time students.

Lifelong Academics

WRS graduates may audit one course of their choice per semester at no charge. This opportunity applies to courses in or below their degree level (e.g., MDiv graduates may audit courses in other master's programs but not vice versa, and a graduate may take advantage of this offer for courses within his degree division).

Spouse Bonus

The spouses of a student enrolled for credit may sit in the same classes that the student attends at no charge. The spouse of a student enrolled for credit may take the same class for credit at the reduced audit rate. If both spouses audit a class, one will pay the full audit rate and the other half the audit rate.

Financial Aid

Thanks to the generosity of WRS supporters, limited financial assistance is available to worthy students. Regular degree or certificate students may apply for scholarship aid toward tuition and syllabus fees from the General Scholarship Fund by filling out an application form.

Numerous Bible Presbyterian supporters have established the J. Gresham Machen Scholarship Fund for students pursuing ordination in the Bible Presbyterian denomination. This aid is awarded to full-time MDiv or BDiv students who have completed at least one year of studies at WRS and who fill out an application form.

Students seeking any form of financial aid must apply in writing before the term begins. The Financial Assistance Committee will determine whether aid shall be granted, and the amount of aid based on available funds and the student's academic work, needs, and plans for future ministry. Application forms are available online or from the business manager's office.

Veterans Benefits

Veterans and other eligible persons may receive GI Bill® Education Benefits for selected academic programs taken at WRS. Selected programs of study are approved by the Washington State Approving Agency for enrollment of those eligible for benefits under Title 38 and Title 10, U.S. Code. This Agency has approved the following programs for veterans' benefits: MDiv and MCM. The amount of benefits is determined by the veteran's course load. Benefits based on the number of hours enrolled are available according to the following schedule:

12 hours or more	Full time
9-11 hours	$\frac{3}{4}$ time
6-8 hours	$\frac{1}{2}$ time
3-5 hours	$\frac{1}{4}$ time

Student Employment

Full-time day students are encouraged to keep their outside work obligations within reasonable limits so that ample time can be given to seminary studies and research. In this way, the value of the seminary course will be more fully appreciated. Students new to the region will find many work opportunities in the metropolitan area. A limited number of part-time jobs are available at the seminary and in local church ministries.

Student Housing

WRS does not have any student housing available. Students are responsible for securing their local housing and transportation. As questions arise, the Dean of Students will work with individuals to find suitable lodging.

Student Advising and Counseling

The WRS Registrar offers academic counsel to students, particularly regarding transfer credits, program selection, and course enrollment to meet program timetables. Individual faculty members may make recommendations to students regarding courses and coursework.

The Dean of Students is available to counsel students in personal and spiritual matters. The Dean of Students also has resources for local housing and occasionally for job/ministry placement. Faculty also may become involved in student counseling.
