The Genesis of Novadontics:

Novadontics' inception can be traced back to the ambitious vision of Dr. Louie Al-Faraje, a distinguished dental surgeon renowned for his expertise in implant dentistry. As a clinician, author, educator, and innovator, Dr. Al-Faraje has been playing a prominent role over the past two decades in advancing the techniques, protocols, and standards of dental surgical procedures as the head of the California Implant Institute, which he founded in 2001. Throughout this journey, Dr. Al-Faraje was frustrated by the lack of software available that suited the specific needs of dental practices. With the backing of a very talented pool of industry experts, he conceived the idea of Novadontics to foster data-driven decision-making in general and implant dentistry.
