4. Best Execution Factors and Criteria

The Company's intention is to take all sufficient steps to act in the best interest of its Customers when handling Customer's Orders and obtain the best possible result for Customers taking into account the following factors when dealing with Customers Orders: price, cost, speed, likelihood of execution and settlement, size, market impact or any other consideration relevant to the execution of an order. The Company does not consider the above list exhaustive.

In cases where the Company will be handling Clients' Orders is required under the relevant regulatory framework to assign a relative importance on the following execution factors:

a) Price

Price is the most important factor for the company when considering best execution. Prices are obtained from industry leading institutions. Our team has the intention to continuously monitor the data feeds and internal pricing mechanisms to ensure the quality of the price generation process and to provide the best possible price to the client.

b) Cost

Cost is an important factor when executing Clients' orders. In order to keep the costs low, the Companies should source the best available prices from their liquidity providers. For opening a position in some types of CFDs the Client may be required to pay commission and/or rollover fees, the amount of which is disclosed on the Company's website and/or trading platforms. Commissions may be charged either in the form of a percentage of the overall value of the trade or as fixed amounts. In the case of rollover fees, the value of opened positions in some types of CFDs is increased or reduced by a daily rollover fee "swap rate" throughout the life of the contract. Rollover fees are based on prevailing market interest rates, which may vary over time. Details of daily financing fees applied are available on the Company's website and/or trading platforms;

c) Speed of Execution

The speed of execution is significant importance when executing Client's Orders and strives to offer the highest speed of execution within the limitations of technology and communication links.

d) Likelihood of Execution

The Company may not be able to execute the order at the best available price or the transaction may fail to complete as stated in our Order Execution Policy. Although the Company strives to execute all orders placed by the clients, it reserves the right to decline an order of any type or execute the order at the first available market price.

e) Likelihood of Settlement

The CFDs offered by the Company do not involve the delivery of the underlying asset, so there is no settlement as there would be for example if the Customer had bought shares.

f) Size of Order

The minimum size of an order may be different for each asset type and/or financial instrument. A Lot is unit measuring the transaction amount and it is different for each type of Financial Instrument. Please refer to the website and/or platform for the value of minimum size of an order or minimum Lot for a given CFD type. The Company reserves the right to decline an order as explained in the Client Agreement entered with the Client.

g) Market Impact

Some market factors may affect rapidly the Company's quoted price of the Financial Instruments. These factors may, in turn, affect some of the other execution factors listed above. The Company will take all sufficient steps to obtain the best possible result for its Clients.

For details on how each factor is assessed ex ante when executing clients' orders please refer to the Company's Order Execution Policy. Where the client provides the Company with a specific instruction in relation to his/her/it order or any part of it, including selection of execution venue, the Company will handle that order in accordance with those specific instructions and, in doing so, it will have complied with its obligations to provide the best possible results to the extent that those instructions are followed.

5. Close links, conflicts of interests and common ownerships with respect to execution venues

Execution venues are the entities with which the orders are placed or to which the Company transmits orders for execution. Even where the Company transmits the orders for execution to the liquidity providers, the Company remains the sole counterparty to your trades. The Company implements and has in place sufficient measures to manage and/or mitigate such conflicts. For additional information please refer to the Company's Conflict of Interest Policy.

6. Payments or Non-Monetary Benefits between the Company and its Execution Venues

The Company does not receive any remuneration, discount or major non-monetary benefits for routing its clients' orders to a particular trading or execution venue, which would infringe its obligations with regards to conflicts of interest or inducements. The Company refrains from structuring or charging its commissions in such a way as to discriminate unfairly between execution venues

9. Other criteria that were given precedence over immediate price and cost when executing retail client orders

When the client gives a specific instruction on an order, the Company will handle the order following such instruction and this may prevent the Company from implementing the best possible result for its Clients in accordance with the relative importance of the execution factors. The Company takes into consideration several factors when handling client's orders such as but not limited to the price, costs, speed of execution. The Company monitors its execution arrangements on an ongoing basis by selecting appropriate samples of orders executed and evaluating the samples as described below:
