ABOUT BUILDSPACE

Building trust, one project at a time.

BuildSpace is a London-based design-and-build company, specialising in extensions, loft conversions and full home renovations — handling every project from initial design through to the final finish.

This case study takes a look inside one of our recent projects, showing the finished result in pictures.

Rear extension

A single-storey rear extension created one large kitchen, dining and family room. Two roof lights and a wide set of bifold doors fill the space with daylight, while a navy kitchen with a long island, pendant lighting and a light oak floor gives the room a calm, modern finish.
