ABOUT BUILDSPACE

Building trust, one project at a time.

BuildSpace is a London-based design-and-build company, specialising in extensions, loft conversions and full home renovations — handling every project from initial design through to the final finish.

This case study takes a look inside one of our recent projects, showing the finished result in pictures.

Elm Road

LOFT CONVERSIONS · EXTENSIONS · REFURBISHMENTS

01

Extension

A thoughtfully designed extension transformed the home, creating a bright and practical new area for everyday living. The work combined carefully planned insulation, generous glazing and bespoke finishes to create a comfortable space that feels naturally connected to the original property.

02

New kitchen and home renovation

Following the construction of the extension, the home was completed with a new kitchen and a full renovation of the surrounding living spaces. The updated layout, contemporary finishes and carefully considered details create a bright, practical home that flows naturally from the new extension into the original property.
