SCADA Systems Specialists

By Laurel Deegan • 24 April 2017

We're pleased to introduce you to our new clients - Spekye Limited T/A SysServers/Scada. SysServers was established in 2004 and is based in Allerton Bywater, conveniently situated close to major motorway networks. The business can be broken down into four main areas:

- Automation & Control
- Electrical Panels
- Networks
- Alarm Monitoring Systems (AMS)

Our Focus: SCADA Systems

To begin with, Hayward Miller will be focusing on the Automation & Control aspect, promoting SysServers' SCADA systems. SCADA stands for Synchronising/Supervisory Control and Data Acquisition and is mainly used in manufacturing facilities, power plants, mines and aboard ships, to help them run more efficiently and cost-effectively. SysServers programme, install and monitor these systems, using PLCs (Programmable Logic Controllers) from large component manufacturers such as Siemens and Allen Bradley. They can then take the data that is produced, analyse it, and predict where problems may lie or where improvements can be made. Currently, the main sectors SysServers work in are Coke/Steel Works, Marine, Recycling, Mining and Power Generation, alongside applications as diverse as theme parks and swimming pools. SysServers' biggest clients to date include British Steel, Hargreaves Services, Monckton Coke & Chemical Company, Svitzer (part of the Maersk Group) and even a Super League rugby club (networks). Hayward Miller began work with SysServers in March after an insightful visit to their premises in Yorkshire. We hope to enjoy a long-standing relationship with SysServers, expanding our focus to the other services they provide and introducing them to an array of interesting and challenging opportunities. SysServers are a creative company who like to find new and different ways of solving problems. They are always happy to get involved with projects outside of the norm. SysServers are ISO 9001, ISO 18001 and NICEIC accredited.
