A LETTER

From the Director's Desk

Every journey after a brain injury is different, but one thing remains true: no one should have to navigate it alone.

At Brain Injury Solutions, connection is at the heart of everything we do. Connection is often the first step toward hope, healing, and renewed independence. It is the relationship between a survivor and a case manager who listens without judgment. It is the support of a peer who understands the challenges of living with a brain injury. It is a family finding answers, a community welcoming someone back, or a donor making it possible for help to reach someone in need.

This year, we strengthened those connections across 16,000 square miles of Southwest Virginia and portions of Central and Southside Virginia. We connected survivors and families to services, healthcare, housing, education, employment opportunities, and one another. Through support groups, community partnerships, prevention programs, advocacy efforts, and individualized case management, we walked alongside people as they rebuilt confidence, pursued goals, and rediscovered possibilities.

The stories and numbers throughout this report reflect more than services delivered. They represent lives touched, barriers overcome, and relationships built. Behind every referral, every community home visit, every support group, and every helmet distributed is a person whose life is stronger because someone chose to connect.

That connection extends to you.

Whether you are a survivor, family member, donor, volunteer, advocate, partner, or community supporter, your involvement makes our work possible. Together, we are building a network of support that reaches people where they are and reminds them they are not alone.

Thank you for being part of this mission. Thank you for helping create meaningful connections that move recovery forward and make hope possible for thousands of individuals and families across our region.

OUR MISSION

To help children and adults living with brain injury improve the quality of their lives and reintegrate into family and community.

Across our largely rural region, distance from specialized services can make life after brain injury harder to navigate. Brain Injury Solutions (BIS) helps survivors and families find support close to home.

HOW WE HELPED

Case Management

Our case managers provide free, long-term, person-centered support to survivors and their families, meeting them at home and in the community. Together, case managers and clients set personal goals, like returning to work, managing medical needs or finding stable housing, then create a step-by-step plan to reach each one.

FROM A CASE MANAGER

"When my clients reach a goal, I love watching their confidence grow. Knowing I helped them become more independent makes it all worthwhile."

Community Living Connection (CLiC)

CLiC brings BIS clients together, in person and online, in small groups that offer support, education, social connection and cognitive skill-building. Through art, music and conversation, participants practice skills they use in everyday life.

HOW WE HELPED

Community Support Specialist Services (CSSS)

Relearning everyday life, one skill at a time.

CSSS provides intensive one-on-one, goal-driven services and supports designed to help brain injury survivors relearn skills and build compensatory strategies for greater independence.

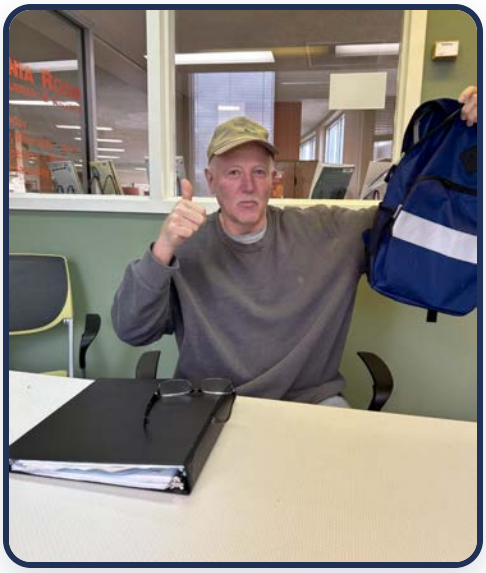

MARIE'S STORY

After her brain injury, Marie wanted to make her family's brownie recipe again. To reach that goal, she and CSSS case manager Michelle made a list, shopped for the ingredients, and baked the brownies together.

JOHNNY'S STORY

Johnny had a stroke in November 2021. He has made significant progress, but keeping track of appointments and organizing his mail were a struggle. Michelle got him a new bookbag and a binder with a planner for his mail, contacts and appointments. They meet weekly, and Johnny is doing a great job using his binder to stay on schedule.

HOW WE HELPED

Beyond the Injury

A justice, education and collaborative reentry initiative

Beyond the Injury provides person-centered support, education and resource connection for people with brain injury who are involved in the justice system. Working alongside detention center staff, courts, supervision professionals and community partners, BIS helps increase awareness, improve identification and build stronger pathways to successful reentry.

Meeting people where they are

At health fairs, festivals and community events, our team connects people to brain injury information and resources, often the first step toward help.

COMMUNITY PARTNERSHIPS

Your Brain on Art at the Taubman Museum

BIS joined the Taubman Museum of Art for Your Brain on Art, a conversation with authors Susan Magsamen and Ivy Ross about how the arts heal and transform the brain. The evening connected our community with the same idea behind CLiC: creativity helps people recover.

HOW WE HELPED · ADVOCACY

A voice for survivors

This year BIS carried survivors' stories from Southwest Virginia to Richmond and Washington, D.C., meeting with lawmakers about the services and funding that help people rebuild their lives after brain injury.

In Richmond, left to right: Jason Young, Executive Director, Community Brain Injury Services; Senator Todd Pillion, Virginia Senate District 6; Melinda Caldwell and Jodi Judge, Brain Injury Solutions.

HOW WE HELPED

When a Need Can't Wait

WINTER WISHES

40 clients received holiday gifts, thanks to donors and sponsors.

For many survivors, the holidays can be isolating. Winter Wishes makes sure they know their community is thinking of them.

$26,000 raised last December through our 26 for 26 campaign. Those unrestricted gifts went where they were needed most, including Winter Wishes.

MEETING URGENT NEEDS

For one client, the right mobility support meant she could move safely around her own home.

BIS helps survivors meet urgent needs that insurance doesn't cover, like mobility aids, transportation and utilities, so they can stay safe and independent at home.

WHY IT MATTERS

“Michele was the first person to tell me that I can do hard things. You have given me a champion in my corner.”

I came to live in Rocky Mount, Virginia, with knowledge of my brain injury but absolutely no support or education to navigate life. You have given me community, classes via telehealth and a champion in my corner.

The loaner computer allowed me to reach out to the world. I was able to talk to people who understood that I am not any less of a person because I have neurological difficulties.

I am starting my life over at 57. I will need help, but because of your help, knowledge and compassion, I am able to move forward.

BIS manages every dollar with care. Our largest investment is in people: our case managers are the lifeblood of our services, meeting clients at home and in the community across 16,000 square miles.

WHY YOUR GIFT MATTERS

Your gift lets us say yes.

Contracts and grants fund specific services, and every dollar comes with rules. Your gift has none. It can build a ramp so a client can leave home again, buy a wheelchair or a lift, or remodel a bathroom so someone can bathe safely and with dignity. Whatever the need, your gift lets BIS say yes.

When you give, you help BIS meet clients where they are, not just where contracts allow.

Thank you!

Brain Injury SOLUTIONS

LOOKING FORWARD

No one should face brain injury alone.

In 2027, Brain Injury Solutions will keep walking beside survivors and their families through every stage of recovery. We will reach more people across our region and deepen our programs. And we will keep building a community of support that reaches every survivor who needs it.

Every connection in these pages was made possible by people like you. We look forward to staying connected in the year ahead, and we hope you'll share our story with the people in your life. Every introduction helps another survivor, family or supporter find their way to Brain Injury Solutions.

Every connection moves recovery forward.
Thank you for being part of the connection.
