STORY

Two careers. One island.

One completely unexpected connection.

Olivia Green has her life exactly the way she wants it. Thriving career, sharp wit, and walls built high enough that love can't find its way back in — not after what her marriage cost her. She's not bitter. She's just done.

Then a seat assignment on a transatlantic flight puts her next to André Pagnelli — charming, famous, and completely unbothered by the fact that she's not impressed. Most people are impressed. Olivia isn't most people.

What starts as banter becomes something neither of them planned for. André is used to yes. Olivia doesn't do yes easily. And somewhere between stolen glances, slow dances, and conversations that go too long, she finds herself running out of reasons to keep saying no.
Apples and Airplanes is a slow burn romantic comedy about the kind of man worth losing an argument to — for anyone who grew up on 90s love stories and has been waiting for Hollywood to make one again.

WRITER | PRODUCER | LEAD ACTRESS

With Apples & Airplanes, King steps fully into the role of filmmaker - creating the story, producing the feature and leading it on screen.

Sarafina King is an actress, writer and producer whose television credits include Criminal Minds, Apple TV+'s For All Mankind and Marvel Studios' Loki.

For Apples & Airplanes, King expands her work behind the camera as the film's writer and producer while starring opposite Jake Lockett. The project reflects her interest in character-driven stories about reinvention, adulthood and the complicated choices that come with pursuing both personal and professional fulfillment.
