

Play This at the Party

An easy version and an advanced variation – both written out and ready to practice.

VERSION 1 The Easy Version

Learn this first. It sounds incredible even in its simplest form.

Start here, even if you have been playing for a while. Getting the easy version smooth and confident is more impressive than struggling through the advanced one. Every great pianist learned the easy version first.

VERSION 2 The Advanced Variation

When you are ready to take it up a notch and make it sound like the record.

Once the easy version feels solid, add these elements to bring it closer to the original John Lennon recording. Do not rush here. Master Version 1 first -- then layer these additions on top one at a time.

The most important thing:

- Do not skip Version 1. The advanced variation only sounds good if the foundation is solid.
- Learn the easy version until it is automatic. Then add the chromatic riff. Then add the left hand movement. One layer at a time.
- That is how you go from playing notes to actually playing the song.

A quick note before you go:

You're not behind. You're not too old.

The reason piano hasn't felt joyful in the past isn't you. It's that nobody handed you the right tools. These five patterns are some of those tools.

Every PIANOLY student started right where you are now.

Ready to See the Full Roadmap?

These five patterns are just one piece of the puzzle. If you want to see exactly how we take students from zero (no experience, no music background) to playing the songs they've always loved, I put together a free training that walks you through the whole path.

You'll see the exact method, the order we teach everything, and why it works so much faster than traditional lessons.

Felix watched it in retirement and decided to join. He now plays every Sunday and Wednesday for his church prayer group and performs with the worship team once a month.

Marc had tried traditional lessons for years and gotten nowhere. After going through the training and joining the program, he surprised his wife by playing their wedding song.

Results vary depending on time invested and starting experience. But what these stories show is that with the right system, progress happens faster than most people expect.
