Northern San Luis

Dove & Pigeon Hunting in Argentina

Welcome to South Pioneers.

More than 20 years in the field

South Pioneers Outfitters began more than 20 years ago, when we discovered the extraordinary wing-shooting potential of Northern San Luis.

What started with a single crop farm surrounded by a vast expanse of roosts has grown into Argentina's newest agricultural frontier. Today, Northern San Luis is home to the largest area of irrigated agriculture using center-pivot systems in Argentina, surrounded by thousands of acres of roosts and grain-producing fields.

This unique combination has transformed the region into an exceptional habitat for both doves and pigeons.

Today, South Pioneers offers three distinct hunting experiences for doves and pigeons, together with a modern lodge, attentive hospitality, and the opportunity to experience Argentina beyond the field.

Why Northern San Luis?

Where Dove Country Meets Pigeon Country

Northern San Luis is home to the largest irrigated agricultural area in Argentina, where farmers produce corn, peanuts, sorghum, soybeans, and wheat across an extensive farming landscape surrounded by thousands of acres of roosts.

The combination of abundant grain production, extensive roosts, water, and minimal hunting pressure creates ideal conditions for millions of doves and pigeons to thrive.

Northern San Luis is also a place where vast stretches of untouched country remain, with pure air and sunny, dry weather. Here, rural life and local traditions still follow a different rhythm, creating a place where time seems to move a little slower.

One lodge. Three hunting experiences.

At South Pioneers, each hunt can be tailored to your preferences.

Dover & Pigeons

This hunt moves from the fast, instinctive pace of dove shooting, with wave after wave of birds demanding quick reactions and continuous shooting, to the very different challenge of pigeon hunting.

Concealed in a blind, the pace changes. You watch the flight, read the birds, and wait for the right moment to pull the trigger.

Two species. Two different thrills. One complete wing-shooting experience

Pigeon Hunting

Passing pigeons flying between roosts and feeding fields create exciting shots, with birds coming high, low, fast, and zigzagging across the sky.

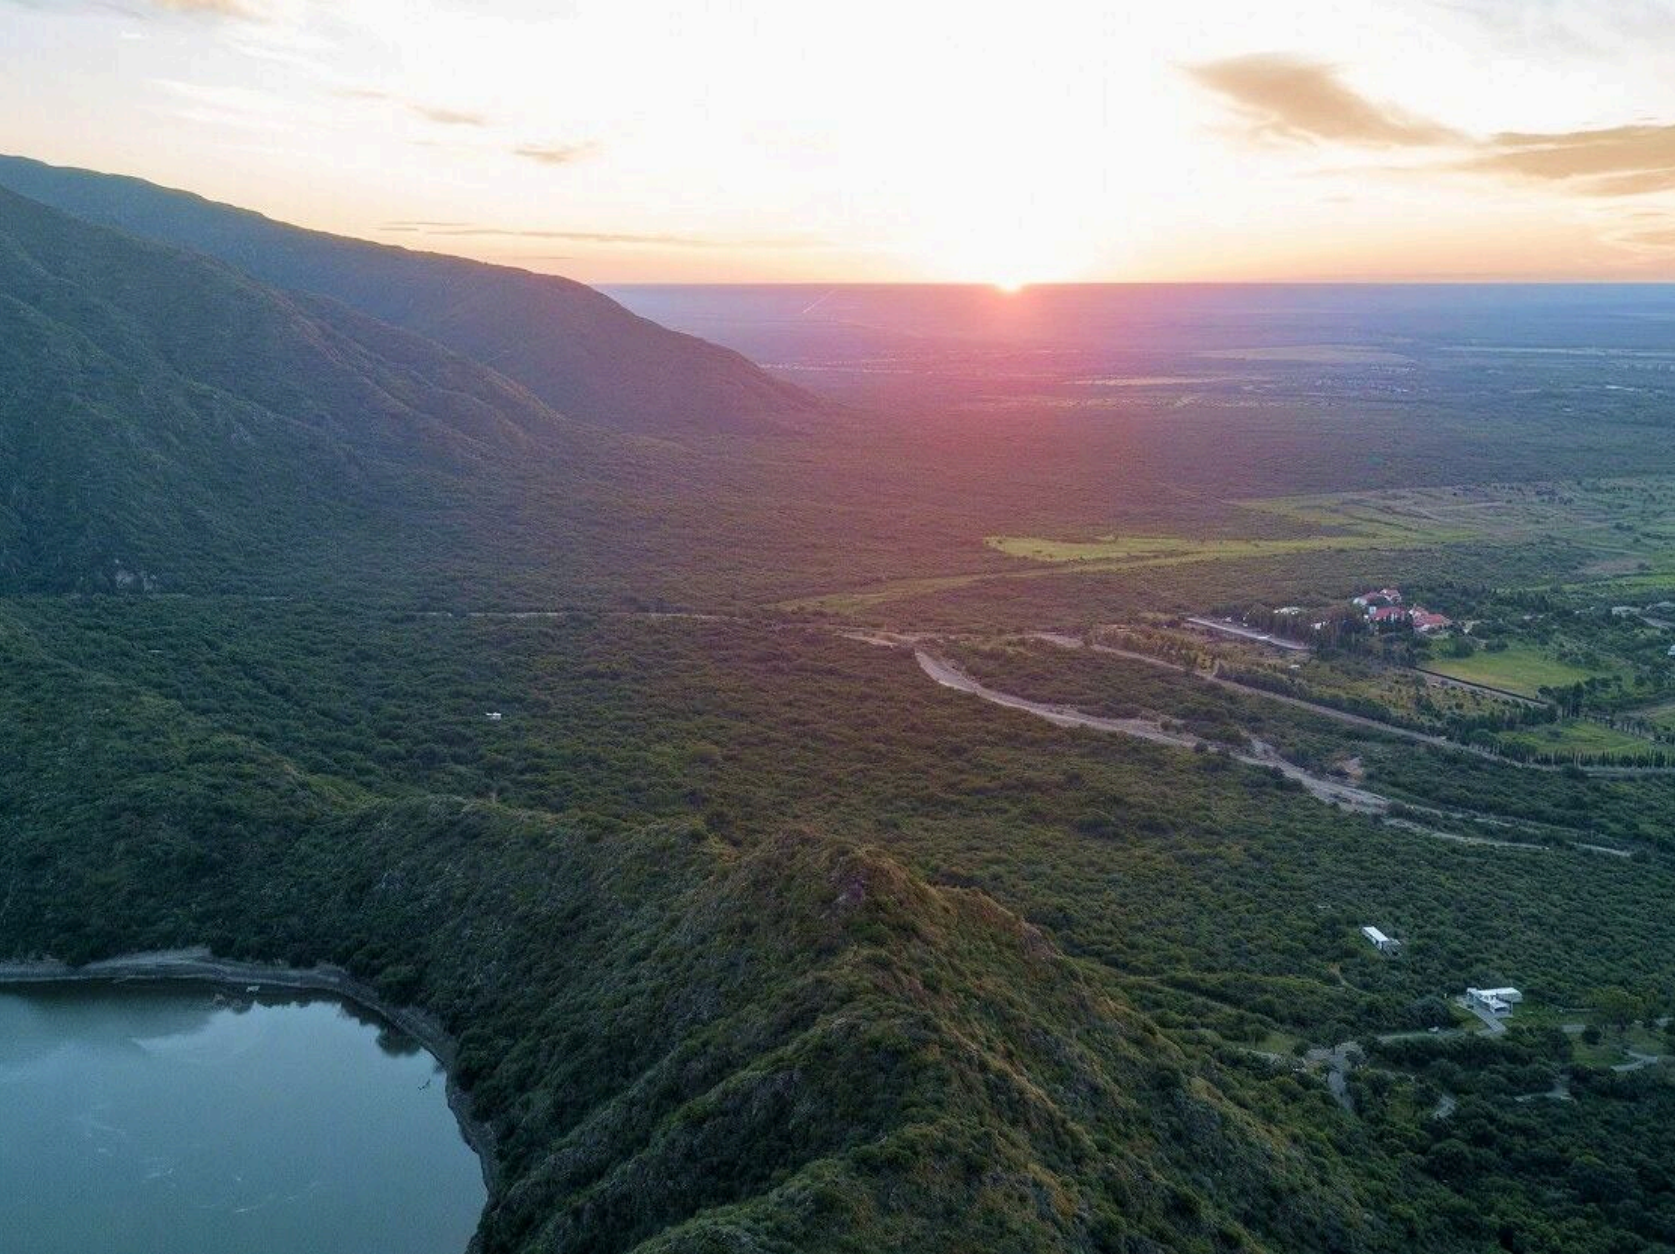

Pigeons around feedlots offer steady flights over the feeding areas, with constant action and a variety of shots throughout the day.

Pigeon hunting over decoys offers the timeless experience of "English-style pigeon shooting": sitting quietly in a blind, watching the flight, and waiting for the exact moment a flock commits to the decoys. Once you experience pigeon hunting this way, you'll understand why hunters keep coming back for more.

Dove Shooting

Northern San Luis is the place for hunters looking for fast, continuous shooting, with wave after wave of doves. Daily flights from the roosts head straight to fields planted with peanuts, corn, and soybeans, where the action never stops.

The Lodge

Relax in Style

After an adventurous day in the field, you'll unwind in style at our elegant and comfortable lodge, designed specifically to host small groups of hunters in an intimate setting.

The lodge features five spacious double rooms, each with a walk-in closet and private bathroom, welcoming social areas, a fireplace, outdoor spaces, Wi-Fi, maid and laundry service, and personalized hospitality.

It is the perfect setting to relax, share the stories of the day, and enjoy great food and wine.

Surrounded by the Sierras of San Luis, the lodge offers spectacular views, open landscapes, and a mild, sunny climate that make the experience enjoyable from morning to night.

A modern lodge. A peaceful setting. A comfortable place to unwind.

Great food. Fine Argentine wines. So much more beyond the field.
