

Risks of Non-Discretionary Advice

Pave Investment Advisors, LLC (“Pave Investment Advisors”) provides certain advice on a discretionary or non-discretionary basis in the form of separate accounts or consulting services. Such services are highly tailored pursuant to the request or needs of each client. Although Pave Investment Advisors does not provide recommendations regarding specific securities on a security-by-security basis, it is possible that a client may rely on the market analysis or economic views of Pave Investment Advisors in a way that was not intended or envisioned by Pave Investment Advisors and to the detriment of the client. Any security Pave Investment Advisors recommends is in the context of asset allocation, portfolio management with an objective to manage and mitigate single stock risk the client may already have in their portfolio. Pave Investment Advisors has taken and will take action to mitigate the risk associated with any unintended use of its non-discretionary advice through the use of appropriate disclosures in its arrangements with such clients. Client’s using Pave Investment Advisors on a non-discretionary basis assume all responsibility and shall accept or reject Pave Investment Advisors’ recommendations in Client’s sole discretion.