

Is pain keeping you from doing what you love?

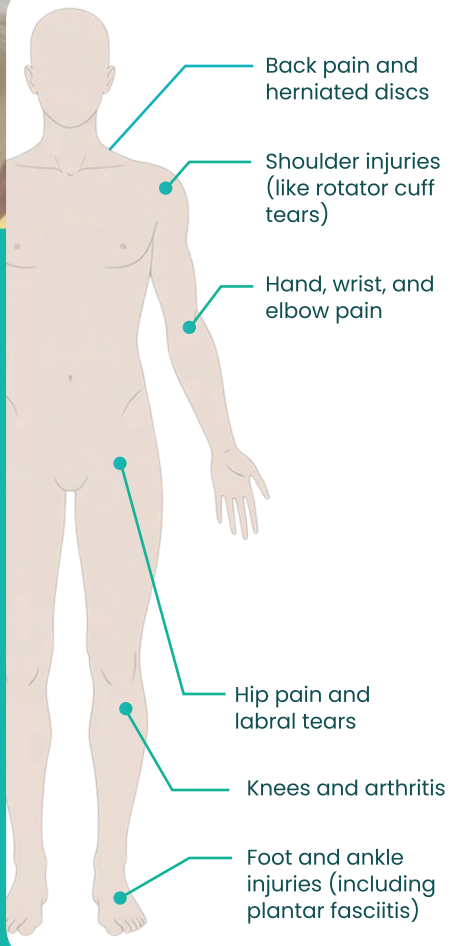

If pain in your joints or muscles is getting in the way of daily life, the Regenexx approach may be able to help — and it's covered by your Titus Transport Holdings health plan.

The Regenexx approach offers a non-surgical option for many common orthopedic problems. Physicians use your body's own healing cells, prepared using Regenexx lab processes to repair damaged tissue and reduce pain.

Your coverage details:

Regenexx is covered as an in-network benefit within the Titus Transport Holdings health plans. In-network benefits for specialist services within your plan and in-network copays, coinsurance, deductibles, and out-of-pocket maximums apply for all Regenexx services.

Non-Regenexx services may fall under a different benefit level, and may or may not be treated as in-network. Charges depend on your specific plan details and your current deductible and out-of-pocket status.

-45%

Patients report 45% less pain within the first 3 months of treatment.

A proven, non-surgical alternative for treating pain

Most joint and muscle pain doesn't start overnight; it builds over time from strain, injury, or wear and tear. The Regenexx approach helps address the root cause by using your body's natural healing ability. These procedures are performed in medical clinics and typically allow a faster, easier recovery than surgery.

"After the procedure, I walked out. It was the first time in years I could move without pain. Now I'm running again and doing what I love."

Treatment pathways vary. Depending on your condition and past care, your Regenexx network physician may recommend additional conservative steps, like physical therapy or a low-dose steroid injection, before proceeding to a procedure using Regenexx lab processes. Your Regenexx network physician will guide you through the approach that's right for you.

Procedures using Regenexx lab processes are performed by independent physicians licensed to use Regenexx intellectual property and methods. Like all medical procedures, results vary and there is both a success and failure rate. Patient reviews and testimonials should not be interpreted as a statement of effectiveness of procedures using Regenexx lab processes for anyone else.
