PROFESSIONAL BIO

Fred Kison is a pastor, educator, leadership coach, and former career paramedic whose life and work have centered on serving people through seasons of growth, challenge, and change. With nearly two decades of pastoral ministry experience, Fred has helped lead and revitalize churches, develop leaders, and equip individuals to live out their Christian faith in practical and meaningful ways.

His background also includes years in emergency medical services as a paramedic and flight paramedic, giving him a unique perspective on leadership, resilience, decision-making, and caring for people under pressure. He has continued his work in education and leadership development through Southeastern University and ministry consulting.

As a mentor, Fred brings a relational and faith-centered approach to helping students navigate leadership, calling, personal growth, and life's transitions. He is passionate about encouraging others to deepen their relationship with Christ while developing the character and practical skills needed to lead and serve others well.
